Taming of Shrew Negative Made By Pickford and Fairbanks Thought Gone

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24.—(UP)—

With the Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., one of the largest film developing laboratories in the world, almost completely destroyed in a spectacular early morning fire, Hollywood studio officials were contemplating what may be a staggering financial loss to the industry.

Damage to the developing plant, in which one employee was killed and several injured, will reach $1,000,000. In addition, there was a possibility that a number of unduplicated motion picture negatives may have been destroyed.

Such elaborate productions as "The Taming of the Shrew," "Rio Rita," "Hell's Angels" and "The Untamed," were in the development process in the laboratory at the time of the fire, it was said.

In case these products were destroyed, the loss may reach $10,000,000. Some persons connected with the industry even ventured to estimate the total loss at $25,000,000 counting such elements as the time of hundreds of workers and the salaries of many actors.

"It may be several days before we know just what we lost in 'The Taming of the Shrew,'" C. E. Erickson, business manager of the Pickford-Fairbanks corporation, said.

Erickson said that officials were checking to see how much of the negative may have been lost. It was pointed out that some of the film may have been in the vault of the developing concern and possibly escaped damage.

"The Taming of the Shrew" co-starred Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford. In case the original negative, or vital parts, were lost it will be necessary for the two stars to relapse scenes which were laid in expensive sets and which called for many extra and small part players.

"Rio Rita" is a feature film of the R. K. O. company and starred Bebe Daniels. R. K. O. officials also said they were checking to see what was lost.

"Hell's Angels," a wartime aviation picture, was under production by Howard Hughes, young oil millionaire and head of Caddo productions. The film was under production and the incomplete part reported in the development laboratory represented an investment of approximately $500,000, it was said.

"The Untamed" was produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., was located in the center of the film colony and handled the products of a number of the largest studios.

The fire was fatal to Albert Lund, an employee of the cutting room, who was asphyxiated by the dense clouds of choking smoke. Firemen were forced to wear gas masks before they could fight the blaze with success.

The injured are Mrs. Irene Beardslee, 40, Glendale, seriously

2 FIREMEN BURNED IN PLANT EXPLOSION

LONG BEACH, Oct. 24.—(UP)—A fire, following two explosions in the Empire Refining company plant here late yesterday, caused damage estimated at $75,000 and seriously burned two firemen.

The fire started when one of the gasoline stills exploded, setting fire to a nearby gasoline truck. The second blast followed shortly, hurling a huge gasoline tank, partially filled with distillate, 400 feet in the air and deposited it in a field two blocks away. Three engine companies from Long Beach and three companies from Signal Hill rushed to the scene and soon had the fire under control.

Fred Payne and Cullen A. Odette, the injured firemen, were taken to the Community Hospital for treatment.

Q.—Does it cost anything to enter and compete for the prizes?

A.—It does not cost one cent to enter or compete and you do not need to be a subscriber to The Register.

Q.—Is any money collected in advance for the subscriptions?

A.—No money is solicited or collected by the contestants. The subscriber simply agrees

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS LOST IN WORST MARKET BREAK ON STOCK EXCHANGE IN YEARS

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Sales on the stock exchange broke all records today, passing 10,000,000 shares at 1:30 p. m.

The previous record was made on March 26 when sales crossed the 8,000,000 mark for the entire day.

Today's total at 1:30 p. m. of 10,171,900 shares brought the sales to date to 925,192,430 shares for the year. This amount is greater than any previous full year in the history of the stock exchange.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(UP)—

Wave after wave of selling again mowed down prices on the stock exchange today and billions of dollars were clipped from values.

Traders surged about the brokerage offices watching their holdings wiped out and scenes on the floor of the exchange were of the kind never before witnessed. It was one of the worst breaks in history with all leaders crashing down through resistance barriers.

The reaction came with the same abruptness as the one yesterday in which billions of dollars in value were lost.

For a time in the morning the market was showing signs of rallying power. Banking support was given the leaders and U. S. Steel staged a substantial recovery that was carried over to the other pivotal shares.

Then new waves of selling out of poorly margined accounts started another reaction.

Tickers at 12:20 were 68 minutes behind. All records for volume were being broken.

Sales to noon amounted to 5,711,200 shares.

At 12:20 U. S. Steel was down to 195 off 9; Consolidated Gas, 111 off 11; Montgomery Ward, 60, off 23; General Electric, 289, off 25; Sears Roebuck, 117, off 17; American Can, 138, off 16; American Telephone, 250, off 21; American & Foreign Power, 93, off 21; Radio, 49, off 18; Columbia Gas, 83, off 14; General Motors, 69, off 7.

Curb prices also fell precipitately, especially the utilities, where tremendous unloading took place in Cities Service. Bonds were unsteady by the behavior of the other markets and shortly after the opening values began to melt away.

Convertible issues were hammered down 25 points in some instances and heavy selling took place in the railroad securities which yesterday were mounting to new highs.

ALBERT B. FALL CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY TODAY

Jurors Retire at 11:45 to Deliberate on Evidence
Of Ex-Secretary

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Justice William Hitz gave to the jury today the bribery case against former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall after charging the jurors not to allow their sympathies to sway their verdict.

The 68 year old defendant accompanied by his friend, E. L. Doherty, whose $100,000 is charged to have bribed Fall to give valuable oil leases in 1922, has been ill throughout the trial. The trial started October 7, in District of Columbia supreme court.

Justice Hitz recalled the jurors 10 minutes after they retired to examine a point of law. The trial for the second time at 11:45 a. m. after the judge emphasized to them

L. A. MAYOR TO SIGN TONIC BILL TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Mayor John Porter was expected today to sign the ordinance prohibiting the sale of wine tonics.

The measure was passed late yesterday by the unanimous vote of the city council. Council took no vote on a proposed measure which would have restricted sales to physicians' orders.

Council indicated that before the ordinance becomes effective, 30 days after Mayor Porter signs it, a conference will be held to establish that the law can not be interpreted to strike at the sale of legitimate medicinal preparations.

The prohibitory ordinance followed an investigation in which council determined that "in a majority of cases wine tonics were being purchased for beverage purposes."

8 ENGINEERS HIRED FOR DAM SITE STUDY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Eight scientists and engineers, who approved of the Forks site for the construction of the $25,000,000 San Gabriel dam, were notified by the county board of supervisors in telegraphic messages of their re-employment late yesterday at $100 a day and expenses.

The men, who made a survey of the site in 1927 and approved it, were asked to make a further report in the light of the newly discovered faults in the bed rock. Both the contractors and R. F. McClellan, chairman of the board of supervisors, are of the opinion that the dam can be safely built on the condemned site.

UNITED STATES AND GERMANY START REPARATIONS PARLEYS

Proposal Of This Country
Is Approved

Separate Treaty, Aside From Young Plan, Is Reported Signed

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Negotiations have been started between the United States and Germany to conclude a direct war reparations agreement which would be independent of the Owen D. Young plan.

The conversations opened five weeks ago, the United Press learned today, when Ambassador Jacob Gould Schurman presented an aide memoire to the foreign office suggesting a separate treaty.

The German government accepted the proposal in principle but raised technical points to be settled. Washington has replied to the points raised in a manner believed to be acceptable to Germany and no difficulties were expected in concluding the agreement.

It is scheduled to be signed before the European governments adopt the Young plan.

The purpose of the proposed agreement is threefold:

- 1.—It will enable the United States government to adopt an attitude of benevolent neutrality towards the Young plan without signing or ratifying it.
- 2.—It will permit the United States government and federal reserve to maintain an aloofness towards the international bank created by the Young plan, but allow private American citizens to participate in operation of the Young plan and the international bank's machinery.
- 3.—The proposed accord would be similar to the United States debt agreements with Great Britain and other former allied nations, thus granting Germany the moral and psychological advantage of being placed on the same footing with other United States debtors.

FEARED CROSS ATLANTIC ACE HAS PERISHED

Practically No Hope Held
Out That Urban Diteiman
Landed Safely

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(UP)—A two-day silence over the North Atlantic left little doubt today but that the life of Urban F. Diteiman, jr., Montana cattleman, had been sacrificed to his dream of trans-oceanic flying.

Nearly two full days had lapsed since Diteiman set out alone from Harbor Vessel, Newfoundland, on a non-stop flight to London.

His gasoline supply, based on the most generous estimate must be considered.

Only the faintest hope was held that the inexperienced pilot and his tiny, open-cockpit monoplane, Golden Hind, had survived the perils of trans-Atlantic flying which already has claimed the lives of 27 others, all of whom started the journey with far better odds of experience and safety equipment.

That faint hope, held by few except a faithful wife-mother and Diteiman's aged parents, was no greater than that held for all of the adventurous fliers whose names are now listed in the roll of the missing. It was based on the possibility that the Golden Hind, romantically named after the famous galleon of Sir Francis Drake, to whom Diteiman claimed kinship, might have been located by a vessel without wireless or landed in some out of the way place where news of its safety could not be immediately flashed to the outside world.

DRY CLEANING FIRM TO BUILD $50,000 PLANT

Will Be Erected on Site of Old Vandermost Home at 1109 North Main

J. R. HOOVER and L. E. Coffman, owners of the Santa Ana Cleaners at 810 North Artesia street and the Community Cleaners of Sixth and Main streets, have obtained a 15 year lease on a building to be constructed by Warren Amos, owner, at 1109 North Main street.

Vandermost's home, a dwelling now on the property, is to be moved and a fully equipped, modern cleaning and dyeing plant is to be erected there.

Building plans include a one story structure of stucco finish with a front office and finishing room and a dyeing and cleaning establishment in the rear. It is anticipated that the business will be one of the largest and most complete in Orange county, as the present Washington Cleaners of 1311 North Main street, the Santa Ana Cleaners and the Community Cleaners will consolidate and be located in the new plant, which represents a $50,000 investment.

All classes of clothing and fabrics, including rugs, upholstery and mattresses, will be handled by the firm.

One factor which actuated the expansion move was announced by the owners of the cleaning establishments as being the plan of J. C. Horton to erect a new building at the present location of the Community Cleaners.

Hoover and Coffman started the cleaning and dyeing business here four years ago with three employees. They now have 14 operators and five trucks. It is expected that the firm will employ 25 persons in the new establishment, which features all local help.

Hoover said the new building will be ready for occupancy about January 1.

CAR FERRY WITH 35 MEN BELIEVED LOST

HOLLAND, Mich., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Fears that the Grand Trunk car ferry, Milwaukee, with its crew of 56 men, had sunk in Lake Michigan, were increased this afternoon when the Holland Daily Sentinel learned that a lifeboat from the ferry had been found drifting near Grand Haven.

The boat left Milwaukee for Grand Haven early Tuesday afternoon shortly before the lake storm endangered navigation and has not been heard from since. Capt. Robert McKay commanded the twin screw vessel, which carried 27 cars. The Milwaukee was 335 feet long with a 51-foot beam.

REMOVAL OF POLICE CHIEF BEFORE L. A. COMMISSION FRIDAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—(UP)—An effort to have the police commission suspend Chief of Police J. Edgar Davis at a meeting of the commission tomorrow was to be made today by leaders of the Developers' Association of Los Angeles. The association charges that Davis is inefficient and guilty of malfeasance in office.

While the association continued its fight, civic organizations were pledging their support to the chief in letters and resolutions to the commission. The W. C. T. U. yesterday took up arms against the chief asking in a resolution that he be removed.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY BLAZE RESULTS IN DAMAGE OF $27,000

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Damage to property of the La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley water districts in the Viejas mountain forest fire was estimated today to be approximately $27,000.

The fire, which started Sunday, was brought under control late yesterday after burning approximately 12,000 acres of land and destroying 5500 feet of flume belonging to the irrigation districts.

ORANGE COUNTY PIONEER DIES ON WEDNESDAY

Ray Billingsley of Villa
Park Passes After 45
Years as Resident

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Two Negroes who drove an automobile onto the tracks in the path of President Hoover's special train at Snyder Station, near New Albany, Ind., last night, were under arrest here today.

The Negroes, Ed Wright, 23, Charles Burlock, of Jeffersonville, Ind., were said to have confessed that they intended to wreck the automobile to collect insurance, but that they did not know President Hoover was aboard the train.

DRIVE MACHINE IN PATH OF HOOVER TRAIN

RAY BILLINGSLEY, prominent for the past 45 years in Orange county as an attorney, agriculturist and public spirited citizen, died suddenly at his Villa Park home yesterday afternoon. Mr. Billingsley was 74 years of age.

Funeral services will be held at the Smith and Tutill funeral parlors, Santa Ana, tomorrow, at 2 p. m. The Rev. George M. Morrison, former pastor of the First Congregational church at Villa Park and now located at Pasadena, will conduct the services, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Tripple, pastor of the Villa Park church.

The pioneer is survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Helen R. Flintham of Villa Park, Mrs. Esther Searle of Glendale, W. P. Billingsley of Los Angeles, and H. R. Billingsley of Santa Ana.

Quick pneumonia was responsible for the death of the prominent Orange county resident. He was seized with the attack at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, and passed away at 5:30 p. m. Prior to the attack he was enjoying his usual health.

The death occurred on the ranch of 20 acres Mr. Billingsley bought upon his arrival in this section 45 years ago. He came to the district direct from the state university of Iowa, where he held the position of assistant professor of law under Dean Currie. He resigned the position to come west to establish his home in what is now Orange county, and which was a part of Los Angeles county at the time of his arrival.

Soon after locating on the ranch he opened a law office here and established the law firm of Billingsley, Painter and Cooke. Mr. Billingsley and his associates drafted the bill adopted by the state legislature in 1889 creating the county of Orange. Later he became associated with the late Judge E. T. Langley in the practice of law.

Following his location here the pioneer became active in public matters and his influence was felt in many ways in the solving of civic problems and in programs for promoting the interests of Orange county.

He was a Democrat and for many years was one of the leaders of the party in Orange county.

Always of a religious mind, Mr. Billingsley donated the lot at Villa Park upon which the Congregational church was established and in later years took an active part in the work of the church, giving his counsel freely and without compensation in the purchase of additional property for the church and in other matters of the church requiring legal advice.

Mr. Billingsley was not identified with any of the fraternal orders but he regarded highly his membership with the Phi Kappa Psi.

ASSASSIN FAILS TO KILL ITALY PRINCE

BRUSSELS, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Within a few hours after a royal proclamation had announced his engagement to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, Crown Prince Humbert of Italy was made the object of an attempted assassination today.

The Italian crown prince was enroute to place wreath on the cenotaph when an unknown Italian, mingling with the crowds which watched the procession, drew a gun and fired.

Prince Humbert was not injured, the bullet missing its mark.

ARGUMENTS STARTED BY STATE TODAY

Chief Deputy Stewart Begins
Scorching Indictment of Theater Man

ALL EVIDENCE IS IN Police Officer Takes Stand
And Says Evidence of Magnate Does Not Check

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Final arguments of attorneys started today in the trial of Alexander Pantagos on a charge of assaulting 17-year-old Eunice Pringle.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Robert Stewart made the first address to the jury of five men and seven women. He plunged immediately into a scorching indictment of the millionaire theater man.

"There is but one issue in this case," he said, "it concerns whether or not Mr. Pantagos attacked Eunice Pringle. The state law makes it clear that any circumstances have no bearing on the case if a man assaults a girl under 18 years of age.

"There has been much contradictory testimony in this case. The people leave it to you to determine who had the greatest interest to tell the truth and who had the greatest interest to fabricate.

"There is no doubt that Eunice Pringle has the greatest interest in truth. The people therefore ask you for a verdict of guilty."

The final evidence of both the prosecution and defense was introduced this morning.

First Police Officer George Cazier went to the witness stand and contended that Alexander Pantagos told a different story from the same witness stand than he told the day of his arrest.

On August 9, the officer claimed, Pantagos said Miss Pringle pushed into the conference room where the attack allegedly took place. The theater man also contended then that he had fallen to the floor while struggling with the young dancer, Cazier said.

On the stand Pantagos denied this earlier story and denied any conversation with Cazier.

'LAND OF SOVIETS' OFF FOR CHICAGO

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 24.—(UP)—The giant plane, "Land of the Soviets," carrying Russia's good will flyers, took off from the local airport at 8:35 a. m. today, for Chicago, their next over night stop.

The five flyers, en route from Moscow to New York, hoped to reach Chicago by 3:30 p. m. today. They will fly over Omaha but will not make a stop there.

Arriving here late yesterday, they were greeted by only a small group who knew the Russian flyers were coming from Salt Lake City to Nevo. Instead of stopping at Claymore, an impromptu reception committee was formed to tender an informal welcome to the flyers.

The plane was staked down on the airfield here last night because the hangar was too small.

BANKERS BACKING VALLEJO TO S. F. AIRPLANE SERVICE

VALLEJO, Calif., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Establishment of a passenger airplane service between here and San Francisco is proposed by a group of investment bankers. It was learned here today.

Backers of the enterprise applied to the city council today for permission to use a portion of the city wharf as a landing and mooring base for a fleet of amphibian planes.

San Francisco investment bankers are prepared to underwrite the project for $500,000, Courtney Moore, attorney for the investors, said.

Seaplanes carrying eight passengers and operating on a 15-minute schedule, is proposed, Moore stated.

Women Leaders In Community Chest Drive Announced

ALL EVIDENCE SUBMITTED IN PANTAGES CASE

Mrs. Rose Fowler, secretary to Pantages, returned to support Pantages' denial.

She said she was with Pantages at the time Cazier claimed he talked to Pantages.

"Did any such conversation take place?" she was asked.

"No sir," was her answer.

Mrs. Fowler told newspapermen after she left the stand that she will leave Los Angeles tonight for Modesto where her husband is a deputy district attorney.

"Except for murder," Stewart continued, "there is no crime greater, than the one charged to Pantages."

"The very thing that this little 17-year-old girl had to make her attractive has been stripped from her by the lust of this man."

Stewart then slipped into an attack of the manner in which the defendant conducted his case.

"From the very start the defense has presented nothing but innuendoes," he said.

"Miss Pringle was asked if she received any money for a story of her life which appeared in a local newspaper. She said she had not. The defense, unable to prove anything to the contrary, dropped the point there.

"W. C. Hale was asked if he had felony counts against him in Texas. He said he did not and that ended that."

Stewart was interrupted by Attorney W. I. Gilbert who offered to reopen the case to show this was no case of innuendo.

PLANE WRECKAGE SIGHTED

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 24.—(UP)—A vague and unconfirmed rumor regarding the finding of wreckage of a plane at sea was being investigated by the Canadian Marconi company here today.

The rumor was to the effect that the Newfoundland government ship "Kyle" reported picking up a message from a steamer named "Scythe" quoting another unnamed ship as saying it had sighted wreckage which might have been that of the missing plane Golden Hind.

Communicating companies in New York had heard nothing of such a message.

SPEAKERS WILL BE ORGANIZED FOR CAMPAIGN

Further plans for the successful conclusion of the Community Chest drive for $50,000, next month, were advanced today with the announcement of the majors in the women's division, the organization of a speakers' bureau and the removal of chest offices to larger quarters at 510 North Broadway.

Mrs. Minnie M. Holmes, head of the woman's organization in the funds campaign, announced today the appointment of the 20 majors who will direct the activities of the 80 teams in her division.

The majors were recruited by the colonels, each of whom has five majors co-operating with her for the selection of workers and the solicitation of pledges when the campaign gets under way on November 12. The colonels for the women's division, as previously announced, are Mrs. Elizabeth Dana, Mrs. Herbert N. Allemen, Mrs. William M. Smart and Mrs. Robert G. Horn.

The majors are lined up as follows:

With Colonel Dana—Mrs. J. C. Metzger, Mrs. Elmer Heidt, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mrs. Herbert Krahling and Mrs. Howard Rapp.

With Colonel Allemen—Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Mrs. Irene Estes, Mrs. E. L. Hull, Mrs. W. V. Whitson and Mrs. Charles Pritchard.

With Colonel Smart—Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, Mrs. Harry Gardner, Mrs. William Rohrbacker and Miss Bess Wood.

With Colonel Horn—Mrs. M. Keeler, Mrs. F. P. Nickey, Mrs. A. J. McPadden, Mrs. Harry Brackett and Mrs. E. L. Struble.

Chest officials expressed their gratification at the splendid personnel of the women's division and interpreted the enthusiasm with which it has started the work as an omen of success.

The speakers' bureau will be organized at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A., at 7:30 tonight, under the direction of Ralph Smedley, Y. secretary, president of the Rotary club and active in the work of the Toastmasters' club. The purpose of the bureau will be to furnish speakers who will acquaint the public with the aims and endeavors of the Chest program and stress its needs. The meeting tonight will inaugurate a short training program for members of the bureau.

The removal of the chest headquarters to the North Broadway address will provide larger offices, enabling workers to more efficiently handle the pre-campaign work and permit conferences of the various committees and teams. The new quarters were provided through the generosity of L. B. Newcom, owner of the building.

strength. Chicago wheat was forced down eight cents and the grain at Winnipeg broke 14 cents. Chicago stocks shot down as avalanches of orders came into that market.

Sales on the curb up to noon totaled 2,585,000 shares, a new high record for that period. The curb tape was 70 minutes late.

Wild rumors around the street that the New York Stock Exchange was to close its doors due to the terrific break were denied.

There were rumors also that trading had been suspended on the Chicago and Baltimore exchanges but these were denied.

At 12:45 cotton futures were off $2 a bale and grains at Chicago were down 10 1/2 to 11 1/2 cents a bushel. Cotton's break followed early advances of 50 cents a bale. At the lows of the day prices were the lowest this season.

The stock tape continued to run late. Near 1 p. m. it was 80 minutes behind the market.

The situation took on such a serious aspect that bankers were holding meetings to determine upon suitable action to stem the flood of offerings.

Organized support began to appear as the market turned into the fourth hour. Steel was brought up with a mighty effort and this steadied the list for a time. Five-cent shares firmed up and the selling was growing less persistent.

ORIENT SHOWS VARYING TASTE IN U. S. MOVIES

BY HARRY W. FRANTZ

United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(UP)—Hollywood's dashing cowboys may gallop across the silver screen to thunderous applause in Singapore but ride to a popular fall elsewhere along the road to Mandalay, if one may be judged by an analysis of film preferences made by department of commerce agents in a survey of the Far Eastern film trade.

"Western thrillers" and "slapstick" comedies are reported to be the most popular pictures shown in British Malaya, where films must cater to native as well as European tastes; but across the China sea in sophisticated Manila, there is said to be a tendency to get away from the "western" in favor of historical films and "heart appeal."

Pictures sent to British Malaya encounter a growing competition with Chinese films, and apparently also run a hard race with the official censor, as burglary, gun play intermingling of races and "eternal triangle" are among the grounds for banning.

"Kabuki" Films

Practically all pictures made by larger producing companies of the United States have been exhibited in the Philippines. Costume or "period" pictures enjoy popularity, and "society" dramas with the triangle complex still have a following. There are now 275 motion-picture theaters in the Philippines, of which 131 are located on the island of Luzon.

Japanese film producers are furnishing a large part of national requirements, due to the popular favor for "Kabuki" films. "Kabuki" is the classical Japanese type of play, which now has been adapted to the screen. It involves formal acting of a stilted nature in accordance with rules of the Japanese legitimate stage. Fixed gestures with set meanings and extensive posing are used to register emotions, and the plots deal with legends or romantic incidents in medieval Japanese history.

"Kabuki" plays do not require elaborate sets, and moderate salaries are paid to the actors, consequently feature films can be produced at a much lower cost than American features. The Japanese motion pictures of outdoor subjects are said to be excellent.

During 1928 Japan imported 410 foreign feature-length films, of which the United States furnished 70 per cent. An interesting feature in the exhibition of motion pictures in Japan is the interpreter or interlocutor who explains the action and meaning of a production to the audience. This unique profession was created when motion pictures were first introduced in Japan, since all the early films were foreign productions and gestures, actions, and properties were unintelligible to most of the spectators.

Serials Losing Favor

In the Netherlands East Indies, the native public prefers action pictures and comedies; serials are losing favor and the better type of films are increasingly in demand. Society dramas and problem plays possess no appeal for the natives, however, in view of the fact that their religion (Mohammedan) and family life give them no background for sympathetic comprehension.

Only four motion-picture films have been produced in the Netherlands East Indies thus far, three of which were native folk-lore pictures and one an action picture with Batavian setting. "Haksen Wraak" and "Lily of Java" were ambitious attempts by Chinese producers.

In Siam 42 picture theaters have a seating capacity of 26,800. In the Bangkok theaters the usual program consists of news reel, a comedy and a picture film, but in the interior the news reel is not appreciated, and comedies and features make up the programs. An American corporation in Siam last year was organized for the producing of Chinese motion pictures.

In general, the department of commerce finds that American films are encountering strong competition in the Far East, and is therefore encouraging American companies to make careful study of the needs of the respective countries and facilities for exhibit.

FIVE RADICALS GET TERMS IN PRISON

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Five alleged radicals were sentenced to serve terms of from six months to five years in the state prison late yesterday by Judge Charles L. Allison, following their conviction on charges of operating a camp, known as the "Little Soviet Republic" in Yucaipa valley, where the red flag of communism was flown as a symbol of opposition to organized government.

Yetta Stromberg, 19-year-old college student, leader of the camp, was sentenced on two counts. The others, Jennie Wolfson, Emma Schneiderman, Esther Karpeloff and Bella Mintz, were sentenced on one count each. Isador Berkowitz, who was convicted along with the others, committed suicide in Los Angeles Tuesday.

BREAKS TO WIN ALBERT B. FALL TROY-CARDINAL CASE IS GIVEN TUSSELE-COLE TO JURY TODAY

The team that gets the breaks will win the Stanford-U. S. C. game at Palo Alto Saturday. In the opinion of Bill Cole, coach at the Tustin high school, as expressed in an address at the meeting to the Santa Ana Lions club at noon, when the club was host to the large group of Santa Ana high school boys who form the material for Tex Oliver's football squad.

"As long as Howard Jones coaches U. S. C. and Pop Warner the Stanford squad, the teams winning contests between the two universities will be the teams that get the breaks," said the Tustin coach.

It was revealed that Cole has seen both teams in action already this season.

Forty high school boys were present as guests of the Lions and the entire program was put on under the direction of Oliver, who officiated as toastmaster.

Louis Ronoff and Arthur Bedows, both from the Santa Ana junior college, provided the musical part of the program, the former playing violin numbers and the latter presenting vocal numbers. Miss Marjorie Walton was the accompanist.

In a brief talk Oliver explained various rules in football, pointing out particularly the difference between a safety and a touchback. While declaring that he was not attempting an alibi for the poor showing of the Santa Ana team in the Long Beach game last Saturday, the coach said that his team was handicapped by the condition of the grounds and that its ragged playing was a development of overconfidence resulting from success in the contest with Pasadena the week before.

D. H. Batten, committee chairman, announced that the club would hold a stag party at the San Clemente beach club on the evening of November 6.

COAST REGION DUE FOR COOL WEATHER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—(UP)—An Armistice between the weatherman and cities along the Pacific slope was declared today insofar as the heat wave was concerned.

A proclamation from the weather bureau indicated that cooler weather would prevail generally along the coast, bringing relief to the millions who have sweltered beneath the rays of an Indian summer sun.

Record temperatures of the last few days were gradually dropping and getting back to normal today.

Referring to the defense plea to send the former secretary back to "the lung-healing sunshine of New Mexico" he informed the jurors "you have nothing to do with the sunshine of New Mexico."

He pointed out that the jury recommend clemency if it de-burned; Albert Walker, cuts and bruises; Mrs. Ada Wilson, face scorched; and Mrs. Ada Blatcher, cuts. In addition three unidentified employees were overcome by smoke but recovered rapidly.

The Hollywood fire department report said it was believed that the fire started at a polishing machine operated by Annette Anderson. Twenty women working nearby escaped safely.

The flames spread rapidly and soon were leaping high into the sky. The heat became so intense that an oil station 30 feet away was scorched.

It was feared that several other workers in the laboratory had died but a search of the ruins today had revealed no bodies, firemen said.

E. C. Lockwood, a foreman in the plant said he considered it miraculous that approximately 100 workers left the blazing building in safety.

"I heard the roar of the flames shortly after a girl yelled 'fire,'" Lockwood said. "I shouted to my men and we ran. As we left the laboratory an explosion occurred right behind us and the flames shot clear across the street."

OLD GOLD gives throat EASE

THE SMOKE SCREEN THAT KEEPS OUT THROAT DANGERS

WHY RISK SORE THROATS?

No one had ever heard of a "Coughless" cigarette until OLD GOLD came . . . Barely three years ago this smoother and better cigarette was introduced to the nation. Its clean, ripe and better tobaccos gave smokers new throat-ease. No rasping. No coughing. And it won a national following. It made millions of friends . . . Why not sample its honey-like smoothness and its wonderful flavor? Change to OLD GOLDS. Play safe with your throat.

NOTED BAPTIST MISSIONARY TO SPEAK IN S. A.

Dr. M. D. Eubank, former missionary to China, will address the congregation at the regular worship hour, Sunday night, in the First Baptist church. The speaker is a prominent figure in Baptist circles and comes to Santa Ana in connection with the School of World Friendship. His subject will be "My Denomination and Its Contribution Abroad."

Dr. Eubank completed his college work in 1891, in William Jewell college, of which Dr. J. P. Greene formerly was president, and took his M. D. from Marion Simms Medical college two years later. For a year and a half he studied in the divinity school of Chicago university. He served as pastor of Immanuel Baptist church for three years and in 1899 received an appointment as missionary under the American Baptist Missionary union and went to Hanchow, China, the following fall.

When he came to America, in 1906, on his first furlough, he was retained in the homeland for four and a half years, speaking and campaigning among the churches. In 1907 he organized a party of 14 persons whom he conducted on a tour of Baptist mission fields. In 1910 he and his family returned to China, where they remained until 1915, when Dr. Eubank was called home to take part in the five-year program of the Northern Baptist convention. His ability as a platform speaker is well known to members of the denomination.

Dr. Eubank was one of the three men who stood for an educational program for Baptist mission work, which finally resulted in a complete change in its educational policy. As a result of this movement there now exists such institutions as Shanghai Baptist college. For over 20 years Dr. Eubank has been a student of missions and has more than ordinary knowledge of the work, not only of the Baptists but of other denominations as well. As a missionary, himself, he took part in several lines of work—medical, educational and evangelistic.

DOCTOR'S WARDROBE DEPLETED BY THIEF

Dr. Murray Bates, assistant county health officer, was looking ahead to a long cold winter today. A burglar stole five suits of clothes and other personal belongings from his home, at 924 East Chapman street, in Orange, last night.

The thief apparently entered the house before 9:30 p. m. when Dr. Bates returned. The screen on a bathroom window had been forced off and the burglar opened the window to affect an entrance. Other valuable articles, including sterling silver, were not touched.

BOXING MATCH WILL FEATURE POST PROGRAM

Ex-service men of the community attending the get-together session under the auspices of the American Legion at their regular meeting, tonight, in the Legion hall, will be entertained by a three-round boxing exhibition in addition to several other features that have been planned by the entertainment committee, headed by Harold Rasmussen.

The match, between Sid Ecklund and Charlie Long, chief sparring partners of Ace Hudkins, who now is in training for his coming match with Mickey Walker in his camp near Fullerton, was arranged yesterday by Rasmussen and Ted Hull and will be of great interest to the ex-service men.

Other features of the meeting will include a discussion of the adjusted compensation problem and disability compensation claims. Service will be offered along these lines to all men at the meeting who request it, it was announced. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

MISSIONARIES IN CHINA VISITORS

Dr. and Mrs. J. Herman Wiley and four children, Ruth, Sarah, Martha and John, returned to this country today and are visiting in the home of Mrs. Wiley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bushnell, of Yorba Linda.

Dr. Wiley is a medical missionary and his wife is a teacher in one of the educational institutions in China sponsored by the Presbyterian mission board. They were home on furlough seven years ago, but have served in the mission field for the last 14 years. All of their children were born in China.

Mrs. Wiley is a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goodwin, of East Chestnut avenue, this city, and is expected to visit here during her sojourn in Orange county.

ATTEND BANQUET
SEAL BEACH, Oct. 24.—The Rev. Father C. M. Raley of St. Ann's church of Seal Beach, was dinner guest of Sheriff Traeger recently. Later in the evening they motored to Huntington park, where both the Rev. Father Raley and Sheriff Traeger were speakers at an open meeting of the Knights of Columbus, which was attended by over 500 men. On the same program Jimmie Buntin and Joe Toluck, soloists in the St. Ann's church, contributed vocal selections.

TWO YOUTHS BADLY INJURED IN CRASH

Two boys were seriously injured at 6:30 a. m. today, when their automobile, in which they were riding to work, crashed into another machine and then turned over in the road near Greenville.

Henry Hernandez, of 531 Fairlawn avenue, Santa Ana, suffered a broken left leg and cuts and bruises and Ernest Tashio, 16, of 806 Fairlawn avenue, is believed to have suffered a fractured skull.

Both were taken to the Orange County hospital by a Winbiger ambulance.

No report of the accident had been received here late today by authorities.

HI-Y BOYS WILL MEET FOR DINNER

Meeting to further plans for organization and to enjoy a program, the merger group of Hi-Y boys of Santa Ana will assemble at 6 p. m., Friday, in the Y. M. C. A., for a dinner.

The feature of the program, in addition to business, is to be a talk by John Tessman, who will discuss "Impressions of American Life." All Hi-Y boys are invited but they should make advance reservations for the dinner. A dinner meeting of dormitory residents of the Y also will be held Friday night, and the men attending will have the opportunity to join with the Hi-Y group to enjoy the address by Tessman.

Because important witnesses did not appear in court this morning, the preliminary examination of W. T. Dollar, proprietor of the Charcoal Boller, on West Fourth street, charged with "sault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder," was continued until 9 a. m., November 5 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Dollar is accused of having shot at G. H. Farrington, dishwasher in the Green Cat Cafe, while Farrington was a customer in his place of business on the night of October 18. The bullet went wild, going through the wall into the Peterson Radio store, next door, and lodging in a radio receiver cabinet, it is claimed.

Several witnesses were heard this morning, but two men from Brea, who were customers in the place at the time, failed to appear and a woman waitress in the place, who now is in San Diego, also failed to make her appearance.

FLOATING AIRPORTS
PARIS, Oct. 24.—M. Bleriot has a plan for constructing airports at certain advantageous points across the Atlantic ocean to offer landing places for trans-Atlantic planes. These airports would be floating islands, supported on pontoons and anchored to the seabed. Hotels and other modern conveniences would be erected there.

House Wreckers Sought by Police

Sheriff's officers today were seeking the lessee of a furnished home in Costa Mesa which yesterday was said to have been in perfect order but which today resembled a wrecked chateau on the Western front during the World war.

The furnishings were torn up, the furniture smashed, molasses was smeared on the walls, and beds were torn apart and piled in the rooms.

Seventy Years Young! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE scorns that ancient prejudice which harshly dictated that age was a limiting factor of usefulness. To-day, old age not only commands respect but demands its place in every walk of life.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

'FAITH' TOPIC OF EVANGELIST AT TABERNACLE

"Faith" was the subject of an address given in the Gospel Tabernacle, Fairview and Sycamore streets, last night by Evangelist William Watson. Coming to Santa Ana from Michigan, the 28-year-old evangelist is delivering a series of messages on "The Victorious Life," in which he inculcates the fundamental truths of the Bible.

Evangelist Watson was called to the ministry when only 13 years of age and since that time has traveled extensively throughout the United States preaching. He was pastor of large churches in Detroit and Denver.

All of the services this week contain special musical numbers as well as the messages presented by the evangelist.

Tonight the Rev. Mr. Watson will speak on the subject, "Our Inheritance," and the Rev. C. Franklin Brown, Santa Ana pastor, urges all interested to attend the service.

FLORA BROWN, WELL KNOWN IN S. A., SUGGUMBS

Relatives and friends in this city of Mrs. Flora Brown of Long Beach, were shocked today at the news of her death in the early morning hours in a hospital in that city. Death was the result of rheumatism of the heart.

Mrs. Brown had been in her usual health up until late last week and Saturday, when Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Langley, 802 Lacy street, were in Long Beach for the high school football game they stopped at her home to see her, learning for the first time of her illness. They made arrangements for her to go to the hospital at once but did not believe that her condition was serious.

Mrs. Brown was a sister of Mrs. E. J. Miller, of the Park apartments and Mr. Miller and Mrs. Langley are brother and sister. No arrangements for the funeral services will be made until word is received from Mrs. Brown's only son, Jay Hartigan, of Seattle.

MRS. J. W. FLAGG ROUNDS OUT 21ST YEAR OF SERVICE AS BIBLE CLASS SECRETARY

On that quiet October morning back in 1908, when the late W. D. Mateer, teacher of a Sunday school class in the First Presbyterian church, asked Mrs. J. W. Flagg, now living at 211 Orange avenue, if she would keep the minutes of the class beginning with Sunday, October 25, probably neither one ever dreamed that her faithfulness to that duty, assumed so gladly as a favor to the teacher that every member of the class revered, would continue for over a score of years.

But on Sunday, Oct. 27, 1929, Mrs. Flagg will have rounded out her twenty-first year of continuous service and the secretaryship of the Mateer Bible class will have attained its legal majority, if such things are governed by the same laws that apply to citizens.

"I never had served as secretary, but we always tried to do the things that Mr. Mateer asked us to do," today explained Mrs. Flagg. "So when he asked me to keep the minutes I began doing so and after serving at his request for over five years was elected as official secretary at the time the class formally was organized as the Mateer Bible class in March, 1914, and have served ever since."

The class was not always called the Mateer Bible class, but after the death of the beloved teacher in February, 1914, the members organized, with the aid of Judge William H. Thomas, and chose the name which should serve as a memorial to their late teacher. Mrs. R. J. Blee, mother of Mrs. Flagg, was the first president and Mrs. J. W. Blee served as librarian from the time of organization up to the time of her tragic death in an automobile accident a few years ago. J. C. Allison was chosen as teacher to succeed Mr. Mateer and was followed in turn by the late Hector McDermott. After Mr. McDermott's death, the class functioned for several months without a teacher. Again Judge Thomas came to the rescue and served as leader until the appointment, a few years ago, of Dr. H. McVicker Smith, who has continued in that role since.

Mrs. Flagg, as secretary, has all details of every change in the class within the covers of the books she has kept so faithfully for 21 years and at last Sunday's meeting of the class in the church the entry of the first minutes she wrote, on Sunday, Oct. 25, 1908, were read aloud to the great interest of the present membership. To add to the significance, there were some of those early members present, including Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Henry, who recently returned to this city after three years in Riverside and who immediately resumed their activities with the Mateer Bible class. Henry was elected to the presidency to succeed J. R. Smalley, who has moved to Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lillian Squires, who now lives in Monrovia, also was present with Mrs. E. P. Stafford and several others. "I have been a member of the class ever since 1902," today declared Mrs. Flagg. "I do not know how long it had been formed at that time, but I remember our meetings in the old church, which stood across the street from the present building, on the lot occupied by an automobile agency. At that time we lived on a ranch on North Main street, and it seemed very far out, but I used to ride to Sunday school on my bicycle."

W. D. Mateer was at one time in the clothing business here, but later retired from active business life. His son, Lloyd Mateer, who was associated with him, resides at 301 East Sixteenth street.

'PROMISES OF GOD' SUBJECT OF MRS. BERG

"What have you done with the promises of God?" That was the first question Mrs. Virginia Brendt Berg, noted evangelist of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, hurled at the audience in the Santa Ana Alliance chapel last night. Her subject was "How to Get Things From God."

"His promises are not in the Bible to fill space, like filling in a roast turkey. I am talking to you tonight because sometimes there will come into your life a need of God and the greatest tragedy in the world is when people have no connection with God in the time of need. You may be independent tonight and have few needs and feel well, but sometime at the end of human efforts you will need God. You will not get benefits from Him through your own perfections, but only through Christ."

Mrs. Berg related many of the tragedies of the Miami disaster and threw herself into the sermon subject with an evident desire to help others see their privileges through the Bible.

"Scriptural Healing" will be the Bible reading to be given tonight in the chapel by the Rev. H. E. Berg and at 7:15 the evangelist, Mrs. Berg, will answer the question, "Is It Scriptural for Women to Preach?"

ARRANGE SERVICES FOR AUTO VICTIM

ANAHEIM, Oct. 24.—Recitation of the Holy Rosary will take place at the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel this evening at 7:30 o'clock for John P. Pink, of Los Angeles, who was killed in an automobile accident in that city Saturday evening.

Mr. Pink was a brother of Mrs. E. W. Pohlman, Lincoln avenue, this city, who will accompany the body to Highland, Wis., where it will be sent for burial tomorrow morning.

Donald Ross and Wilbur Collins, of Los Angeles, were held in Los Angeles following the accident, as it was claimed by witnesses that they had taken the injured man to his home, hurried him on the lawn, and driven away. Ross, driver of the car, stated that he and Collins had taken Mr. Pink to his home at his own request and that he had not seemed seriously injured.

SOLUTION OF TAX PROBLEM STILL SOUGHT

BY ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to the Register)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 24.—Tax problems in California are once again attacked, with organization of the new Joint Legislative tax committee, created by the last legislature.

Taking over the work of the disbanded California Tax Commission, the new committee held their first meeting recently in San Francisco.

Every person in the state will be affected by the results of the deliberation of this body, which is designated to completely investigate and make recommendations on our system of taxation, including that of cities and counties.

Although the defunct commission embodied their recommendations in a thick volume, only a fraction of their report was acted upon by the legislature and the remainder will be used as a basis for the new committee's efforts.

Of most interest to the "man in the street" will be the committee's action on a state income tax. The plan was recommended by the last tax commission, but recognizing that opposition to this type of taxation is present, the commission added that "public opinion should be carefully sounded" before the tax was decided upon.

Such a tax would be modeled along the lines of the federal income tax. Much "midnight oil" will undoubtedly be burned over this problem by the tax committee.

Another recommendation of the last commission is of vital importance to the average citizen. This is the question of an "ad valorem" or general property tax. It would be used, according to the former commission, only when state funds were depleted. The idea of a tax by the state on property is known to be unpopular, and as this committee is composed entirely of lawmakers, they will undoubtedly be sensitive to public opinion.

The 4 per cent net income tax on banks and corporations, enacted into law by the 1929 legislature on recommendation of the California Tax Commission will come in for much study by the present committee.

Results of this deliberation will be of interest to everyone, for state revenues have been seriously depleted by drops in tax returns of banks and corporations under the new income tax. Many large corporations have escaped with the minimum tax of $25, while the banks are paying on an average only 20 per cent of the taxes they paid before the law was passed.

This knotty problem is complicated with need for consideration of federal statutes, stating just how states may tax national banks. These statutes make it imperative that the state place corporations and state banks in the same tax category they do national banks, to escape the charge of "tax discrimination" which may be invoked by national banks should their tax rate be different from that of other banks or corporations.

"If the banks and corporations do not pay their share the public must," was a phrase heard many times during the past legislative session and the new tax committee equalizing the tax burden of the state in this respect.

WEALTHY STATE
ROME, Oct. 24.—The Vatican state now has a wealth of nearly $110,000,000, according to Philip Turati, former Italian deputy, and leader of the anti-Fascists in Paris. Most of this fortune is invested in Italian, English, American and Polish bonds and stocks, it is said.

HIGH WINDS HIT BLIMP

Not very much was left of the Goodyear "baby blimp" Vigilant for Pilot Charles Brannigan (inset) to write home about after high winds struck the craft while it was being refueled at an airport near Pittsburgh, as this picture of the wreckage shows. The little dirigible was wrecked when the winds snatched it from the ground crew's grasp.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so. You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

MORE EYES FOR ANNOUNCER

Too bad the modern radio sports announcer has no more than two arms, two legs and the customary pair of eyes, for he needs more when he's trying to tell everything that happens at a football game. But Carl Mavrin, chief sports announcer for KFI, Los Angeles, doesn't worry. He's fitted up a gadget that enables him to see near and far, and at the same time keep his hands free to make notes, adjust his microphone, signal to fellow observers on the field, smoke a cigaret or drink some pop. Here he is shown with it—a pair of binoculars fitted to his head just as he desires.

LONDON BOBBIES WILL USE RADIO AUTOS IN ATTEMPT TO HALT CRIME'S SPREAD

LONDON, Oct. 24.—One hundred years from now, if crime continues to adopt the radio method of police communication as rapidly as they are now, we may have a world without crime.

Detroit started this modern method of battling criminals. Cleveland, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Youngstown and other cities picked it up. And now comes word it is London. Lord Byng, internationally famous as the chief of metropolitan police here, is planning a radio network over Great Britain to "cope" with the modern criminal.

That this crime combating method is successful is evident by the reports that come from the cities adopting it. Detroit's police cruisers, equipped with receivers to pick up the short wave messages broadcast, have, by their methodical schedule of cruises, noticeably decreased the criminal activities in that city. Similar results are experienced in other places, even in the crime-ridden city of Chicago.

But with the adoption of this system by London, crooks, murderers and other criminals will find havens less plentiful and hunting grounds less numerous. They will be hounded from one continent to another. And if other nations adopt the system as have England and the United States, crime will be rare in the future.

London's scheme is to construct a network, exclusive for police, employing a secret wave-length. Operators with a knowledge of Scotland Yard methods will be sent to the different broadcasting stations to put the scheme into operation.

To prepare police for this modern method of criminal chasing, courses of study will be instituted. All Yard men will undergo an intensive course in the characteristics and methods of confidence men, pickpockets, forgers, drunks, and a n d international crooks.

New, high speed automobiles are being delivered to police headquarters to cope with motor bandits. In 24 hours these cars can be completely camouflaged and it is probable that the cars will contain radio receivers capable of picking up the secret wave instructions from headquarters.

"Lord Byng is anxious to secure a closer co-operation with the police forces in the counties," it is said. "Wireless provides the best means of liaison and subject to the acceptance by the county authorities of his new schemes, stations are to be set up at various points to provide a complete chain of police communication."

MEANING OF CALL LETTERS ARE EXPLAINED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—When radio broadcasting first became popular about eight years ago, stations began a mad scramble for permission to select certain calls with letters, representing the initials of a slogan, the owner, a product, or a novelty. The scramble is still on.

The present system of call letters, as fixed by the government and the federal radio commission, is arranged geographically. Every radio station must have either of two letters, "K" or "W," as the prefix of the call, "K" with the exception of KDKA and KYW, denotes stations west of the Mississippi river; "W" denotes those east.

On application and with the approval of the commission, stations can arrange the remaining three letters to suit themselves. If arranged by the commission, however, they are arranged alphabetically. This is done by adding other letters of the alphabet to the geographical designation, as WAAB, WABC, WAAD, KFAA, KFAR, KFAC, and so on.

These station calls stand for no descriptive or ownership phrase, but those arranged by the broadcasters are novel and are intended to impart a subtle bit of advertising every time they are announced.

Many of these call letters bring to mind the slogan they stand for. When a listener hears WPG, Atlantic City, for instance, he says: "Well, there's the world's playground." WIOD, Miami Beach, Fla., stands for the beautiful phrase, "Wonderful I s l e of Dreams." Then KGEJ, Los Angeles, "Keeps Good Folks Joyful." KTHS says, "Kum to H o t Springs." WJR, Detroit, is "Where Joy Reigns." WCOA, Pensacola, Fla., is the "Wonderful City of Advantages," and WOS, Jefferson City, Mo., says "Watch Our State."

These call letters and their slogans employ the beautiful phrases the real estate salesman hold so dear, and well they might, for such advertising is impressive.

Other calls are made up of the first letters in the names of churches. For example, KPCC, Pasadena Presbyterian church, Pasadena, Calif.; WFBC, First Baptist church, Knoxville, Tenn., and so on.

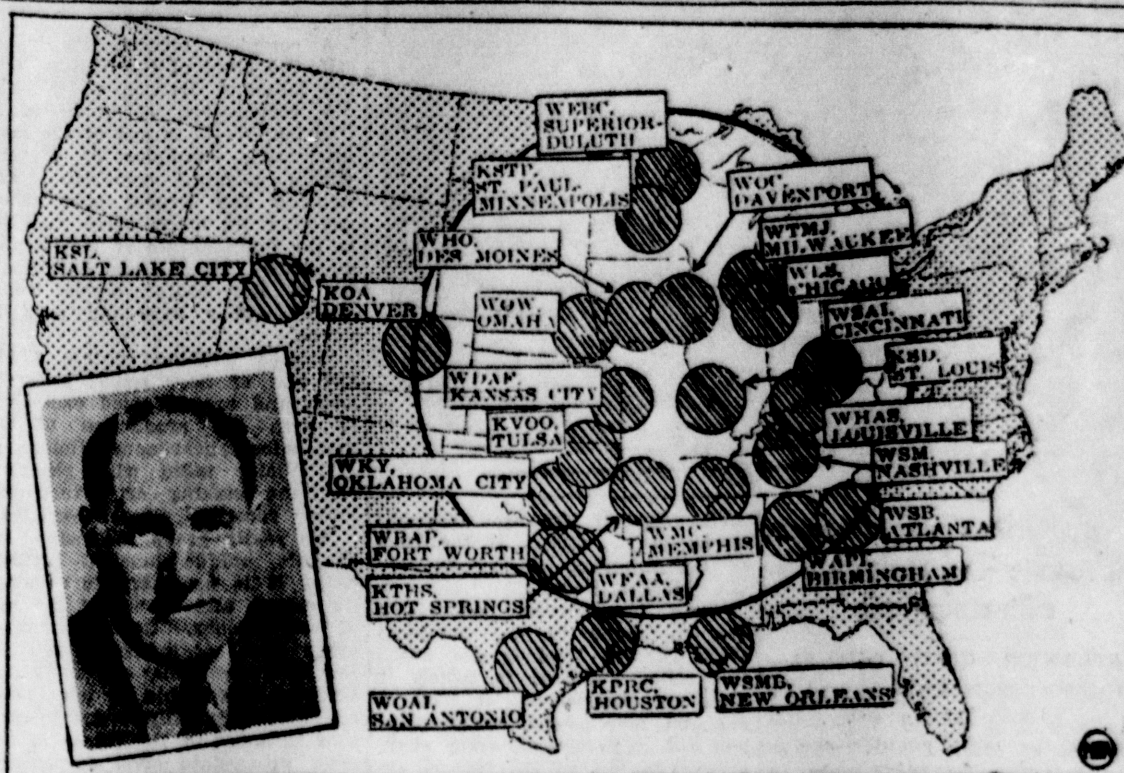

Still other air signatures incorporate the abbreviation of the state or city in which they are located. WLL, Urbana, Ill.; KWYO, Laramie, Wyo.; KORE, Eugene, Ore.; and KSL, Salt Lake City, are examples.

WSBT, South Bend, Ind., and WTML, Milwaukee, Wis., are newspaper owned. The former takes its last three letters from the South Bend Tribune and the latter from the Milwaukee Journal.

Novelty call letters are common. WOW, Omaha; WHAM, Rochester; KICK, Red Oak, Ia.; and KNTN, Muscatine, Ia., give the impression of a lot of pep, noise and activity. KOIL, Council Bluffs, Ia., sells oil. WASH, Grand Rapids, Mich., sounds like a laundry station, and WOOD, Farnwood, Mich., is owned by a furniture company.

HOW NBC PROGRAMS REACH FARMERS

The large circle designates the territory covered by the newly formed NBC agricultural network headed by WLS, Chicago, while the smaller circles show the immediate territory taken in by the individual stations. In inset is Frank S. Mullen, who is in charge of this network.

MANY FARMERS ARE BENEFITED BY NEW CHAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Radio is to the modern farmer what the ticker is to the stock broker.

As short a time as five years ago the average farmer in America's great agricultural belt loaded his grain on a wagon, drove to his nearest elevator and asked what he could get for corn—or whatever grain it was—that day. The dealer, in turn, looked at the previous day's close, deducted a certain percentage for dropping markets and made his bargain. Today that is a thing of the past.

The modern farmer has a radio set in his home. He watches the grain, cattle and produce market as closely as the dealer in stocks watches the ticker from the stock exchange, and he is kept almost as instantly informed. Today he waits until the market is favorable, loads his grain on an auto truck, drives to his nearest elevator and tells the dealer what he will take for his crop.

This market service to farmers from WLS alone, the key station for the newly formed National Broadcasting company's agricultural network, is estimated to have saved its listeners more than $20,000,000 already this year. This figure is given by Burdette D. Butler, publisher of the Prairie Farmer, which owns WLS.

NBC Realizes Worth

The growing importance of radio to the farmer and the realization that rural residents from the beginning of the industry have had probably a greater stake in radio than any other group, prompted the recent formation of the NBC agricultural network.

While the NBC for its first year had, in co-operation with the United States department of agriculture, broadcast a farm program for listeners in the central time zone, and this year extended that service to include the eastern zone, there was a marked demand for a service that would enable the more than 7,000,000 farmers in the great Mississippi valley to be linked together with a special radio network.

WLS, Chicago, and long been the outstanding farm station of the midwest, and was already an associated member of the NBC system. When the new farm network was formed it was picked as the logical broadcaster to key the group, and eight other strong stations in this section of the country added to form the basic network. These are KSD, St. Louis; WDAF, Kansas City; WHO, Des Moines; and WOC, Davenport (on alternate days); WTML, Milwaukee; KSTP, St. Paul-Minneapolis; and WEBC, Superior-Duluth.

Covers West, Southwest

In addition to these, supplementary groups have been named, which when added to the basic network would give coverage to include all of the cotton belt, the grazing sections of the southwest and the grain country of the far west. This network, under the personal direction of Frank S. Mullen, director of agriculture for

MEASURES FOR BETTER RADIO TOLD BY WHITE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Creation of a communications commission, with extension of life of the federal radio commission meanwhile, are the chief radio proposals before congress, said Representative White, of Maine, chairman of the house committee that deals with radio affairs.

Other radio matters likely to be acted on at the regular session said Representative White, are removal of the limitations on the power of the president in the appointment of members of the commission, so as to do away with the geographical distribution of its membership; and changes in existing law with reference to procedure to be followed by the commission.

The federal radio commission was created under public law No. 632, of the 69th congress, the radio act approved on February 23, 1927. Under the terms of that act, the appointment of five members was authorized and not more than one of these five commissions could be appointed from any of the five zones into which the country and its possessions are divided.

The first commissioners, under that law, were to be appointed for the terms of two, three, four, five and six years, respectively, from the effective date of the 1927 act, but their successors were to be appointed for terms of six years, except in the filling of vacancies.

World's Radios Valued At Over $1,843,750,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The total value of the radio set installations in the world is estimated at $1,843,750,000 by the electrical equipment division of the department of commerce. The value of broadcasting stations in operation is placed at $22,682,222.

The report states there are 21,629,107 receiving sets in the world; the United States having 10,250,000. Europe, aside from Russia and Turkey, has 9,139,824 sets.

The figures indicate there is one receiving set for every 12 1/2 persons in the United States, one for every 53 in Europe and one for every 88 in the world.

KFI ANNOUNCES ITS PROGRAM OF FARM TALKS

Beginning each day at 12 noon, and continuing 10 minutes, talks of interest to farmers, growers and producers will be given during the week beginning October 28, under the auspices of the agricultural extension service, co-operating with radio station KFI. The following daily talks are announced by the farm advisor:

October 28—"A Talk on Avocadoes" William McPherson, director California Avocado association.

October 29—"Fruit and Field Question Box" F. H. Ernst, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

October 30—"The Spread of Insect Pests by the Movement of Nursery Stock" A. H. Call, agricultural commissioner, Ventura county.

October 31—"Tree Friends" Woodbridge Metcalf, extension specialist in forestry, University of California, Berkeley.

November 1—"Citrus Question Box" M. B. Rounds, farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

November 2—"Simplified Cleaning in the Home" Mrs. Azalea L. Sager, home demonstration agent, San Diego county.

SCOTCH PROGRAM FEATURED BY KFVD

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Every since Harry Lauder, the great Scotch comedian, appeared on a network program, lovers of Scotch numbers have been won over to radio. KFVD has its representative from the River Clyde district in Dan Maxwell, known as the "King of Scotland" over the air. Dan comes direct from Glasgow and knew the great Lauder long before the theater world ever heard of him. Dan puts personality into the microphone, which is considered a rare art. He is well liked over the air.

SAVE ON TUBES

A new metal, developed by Westinghouse engineers, is effecting a saving of more than $250,000 a month in the manufacture of radio tubes. It is called konel and takes the place of platinum. It costs but a few dollars a pound, whereas platinum costs about $180 an ounce.

USED TWO STATIONS

Using the services of WJJD and WCFL, the People's Church of Chicago claims to be the only church in the country using two stations to broadcast its services. The church has been broadcasting seven years.

START PHONE RADIO

Telephone subscribers of the Northwestern Telephone company at Defiance, Ohio, are now getting radio programs over their telephones. The radio program service was started October 1.

WRNY HAS MOVED

WRNY, New York, has moved from its Hotel Roosevelt location to new and larger studios at 27 West 57th street. The larger headquarters are to take care of large aviation interests backing the station.

Make Progress In Transmission Of Photos In Europe

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 24.—Striking progress in Europe in the transmission of photographs by radio is reported by Maj. R. H. Ranger, design engineer, who just has returned from a tour of observation there. Major Ranger, who perfected the facsimile device controlled by the Radio Corporation of America, said the evident spirit of co-operation on facsimile transmission in European countries was exemplified by Marconi's remark to him when he was leaving England for Germany, that he was at liberty to tell the Germans everything he had seen of his work and that he would appreciate any report on German work, with the permission of the Germans. Dr. Schapira, of Telefunken, in Germany, immediately granted the permission.

Many are the proposals radio artists receive. Edward A. Davies, director of WIP, Philadelphia, claims the following: "The most serious of eight proposals was from a mother of eight daughters, who offered not only her portly self of 210 pounds, but a 90-acre farm, 20 head of cattle, three horses and a 1913 Ford." That's plenty of inducement.

Lots of stations have their radio "uncles," but Uncle Jerry at WASH, Grand Rapids, Mich., claims the distinction of having the youngest "family" of any "uncle" on the air. Many of his admirers join his "Happy Club" before they are 24 hours old—through their parents. Uncle Jerry, who is really Hugh Hart, is chief announcer and published organist at WASH. His program is made up of "songs."

New series on the air: "Evening Bells," WSB, Atlanta, Sundays at 5 CST. "Peerless Entertainers," WSB, Atlanta, Thursday at 10 CST. "Around the Campfire," WBZ, Springfield, Mass., Sundays at 7 EST. French Lessons, WGBS, New York, Mondays at 4:45 EST. Women's hour, KSTP, St. Paul, daily at 3 CST. Romany Trail, WBAL, Baltimore, Fridays at 6:30 EST.

Elsie Lee Cohen, afternoon program supervisor at WBAL, Baltimore, has a scheduled heavy afternoon radio menu for the coming winter season, including social, educational, religious, literary and financial talks. She studied voice in New York and London, and has frequently appeared at least in London and Monte Carlo.

Herbert Glover, now with Columbia; Lewis Reid, with Judson Radio Program corporation; Milton Cross of WJZ, and Norman Brokenshire, now with WJZ and was known as "The Four Horsemen of Radio."

MEXICO BUILDING AVIATION NETWORK

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—The department of commerce has announced that a chain of radio stations is being built along the flying routes of the Cia Mexicana de Avacion, S. A., in Mexico. The company plans also to install radio equipment on all passenger planes. With a central station in Mexico City, the company has established stations at Tampico and Brownsville, Texas. Plans are under way for units in Vera Cruz, Merida and Tapachula.

DIRECT CIRCUIT TO SYRIA IN OPERATION

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 24.—The first direct radio circuit to Beirut, Syria, from New York City has been placed in operation by RCA Communications, Inc., according to an announcement by W. A. Winterbottom, vice president in charge of communications for the company. Messages heretofore have been sent to London or Paris by radio, then by cable to the Syrian capital. Transmission is from the Rocky Point station on Long Island.

French, Hygiene Taught Over Air

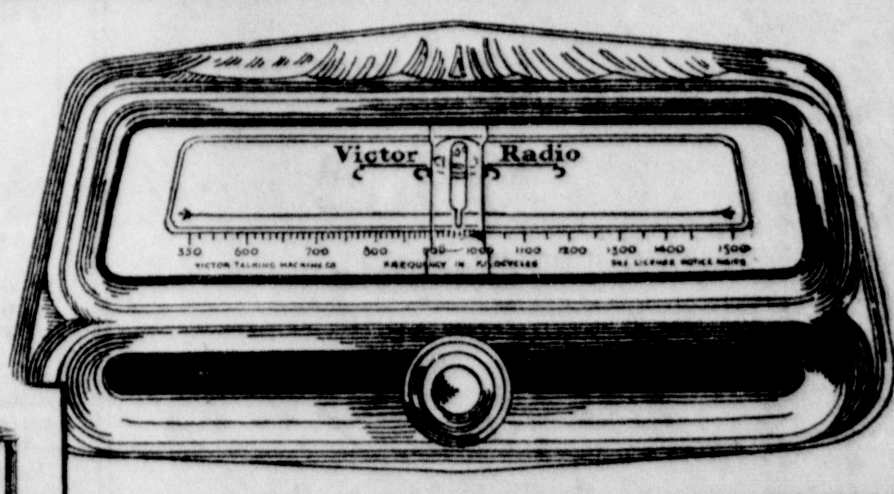

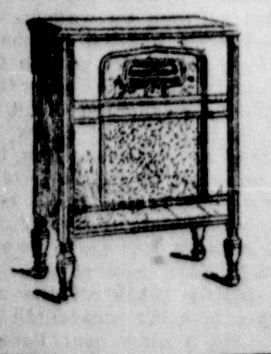

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—New courses in French for high school students and in hygiene for pupils in the fifth and sixth grades were begun in the second week of the Central School of the Air, broadcast every school day from 2 to 3 p. m. by WLW. The French course is conducted by Professor Price of Ohio State university. The health courses, given every other week, are conducted by Roy P. Emerson, dean of the School of Medicine of Indiana university. Talks on other standard subjects, such as chemistry, music, geography, are also a part of the daily broadcasts.

ARTISTS TEST SETS

Powel Crosley, Jr., the radio manufacturer, has obtained the help of several renowned musical artists to test the tone of his receivers and make suggestions for their improvement. It's the first time, he says, radio testing has been taken out of the laboratory.

MANY MONTHS OF EXPERIMENT ON SILVERTONE

Many months of experimentation, that involved both original research and an exhaustive review and analysis of all past discoveries in the science of radio engineering, are behind the creation of the new screen grid radio of Sears, Roebuck and company.

The experimentation was carried on in the laboratories of the famous radio engineer, Alexander Senauke, professor of radio and electrical engineering in New York university and head of those departments at the Popular Science Institute. Incorporated in the new Silvertone are not only salient discoveries in radio developed in other laboratories but improvements evolved and patented by Sears, Roebuck and company engineers.

When the ultimate receiving set was put together it was subjected to thousands of tests that involved every conceivable condition and stress under which any radio might be called upon to operate. Further modifications and improvements were effected from information gathered through these tests.

Art has collaborated with science in perfecting the new Silvertone. Acting in a capacity analogous to that of consulting engineer, Lorado Taft, the celebrated sculptor inspected and approved the design of the cabinet.

FANS HELP WITH PROGRAM

Norman Reed, of WPG... "Dr. Hokum"

Contributions of Listeners Provide 'Dr. Hokum's' Entertainment

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 24.—An emergency program, caused by an unavoidable studio delay, has created the most popular sketch that radio station WPG puts on the air here. It is the period conducted by Doctor Hokum—in real life Norman Reed, chief announcer for the station—and consists in the main of contributions by listeners.

When WPG moved into its new studios at the Convention hall recently, large throngs of visitors came and went. Numerous contributions in the form of monologues, poems, jokes and songs were left at the station for consideration. These were not seriously considered until an emergency arose.

When it was impossible to put on a scheduled feature, Reed dashed madly about, picked up the odds and ends contributed, and when on the air with no idea that his offerings would score. Following the initial showing of this period, "Doctor Hokum" received numerous requests for new and long forgotten songs, verses, a questionnaire and a great variety of material.

So the program was given a regular period of the station's time. Every Tuesday at 4:45 eastern time it goes on the air with a variety program, compiled largely by the audience itself. Assistant Reed are John Brown, WPG reception room host, and Margaret Keever, contralto and pianist.

Any one else who happens to be in the studio at the time of the program, is vamped into the "Hokum Hour."

"This presentation runs from the ridiculous to the sublime," WPG reports, "and is one which the radio audience is asked to plan for themselves. It includes old and new poems, songs, playlets and imitations of every character, running, as Dr. Hokum explains, from the 'splash of gold fish to the meow of the cat or the bark of the tree.'"

THEATER PLANNED FOR LAGUNA CLUB

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 24.—The McCormick Studio theater, the Community club and the Community players are expected to join forces for the establishment of the McCormick theater in the Community clubhouse.

Harold McCormick, millionaire harvester manufacturer, placed $10,000 in the bank a year ago for the establishment of a studio theater.

The directors of the three organizations have approved the merger plan and members are expected to approve it when it comes before them for a vote.

McCormick plans to remodel the Community club if the offer is accepted. The theater is designed as a place where artists may produce new plays.

VICTOR PLANT IS COMPLETE CITY IN ITSELF

A complete municipality in itself, the plant of the Victor Talking Machine division of the Radio Corporation of America, in Camden, N. J., is one of the most interesting examples of a "city within a city," comprising and housing the largest organization devoting its many sided facilities to the manufacture of musical instruments, according to Burr Shaffer, of the Shaffer music house, Victor dealer here for over 20 years.

"Its 38 building contain 2,543,000 feet of floor space, cover 51 acres and are occupied exclusively with the production of the new micro-synchronous Victor radio, Victor radio with electrola, and the making of Orthophonic Victor records," Shaffer explains. "To really grasp the magnitude of this unique musical municipality it is necessary to consider its extent and scope by the use of comparisons. Covering almost every phase of industrial activity, the Camden home of the Victor business has within its spread-out confines practically every institution included in the limits of the most up-to-date civic corporation in America."

"The inhabitants of 'Victor City' number thousands of men and women, many of whom have been technically trained by Victor through a number of years. Although all of the buildings in 'Victor City' are of fireproof brick and steel or concrete construction, it has a fire alarm system more extensive and complete than that in the average city having a population in excess of 100,000. A fully manned fire department with equipment is on duty day and night. There is also the 'Victor Watch' or police force of more than 100 men operating in three platoons. A complete water plant, including distillation equipment furnishes 17,000 gallons of water per day. The 'city' maintains its own power, heating and lighting plant. Its power generating units have a capacity of more than 16,000 horsepower."

"Through the 'Victor City' pass the electric locomotives of an inter-plant standard gauge railroad and all of the Victor buildings are equipped with modern conveyor systems. An inter-plant trucking service includes 21 motor vehicles and 38 motor truck trailers. Elevators and escalators facilitate the entrance and exit of employees."

The plant is a completely equipped factory for the production of motors, both spring and electric. There are also electrotyping, electroplating and metal working plants, each containing the newest and speediest equipment."

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Oct. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Oliver have returned from a three months' stay in Colorado, where they visited relatives. J. E. Oliver left the first of the week for a visit with his mother in Indiana. This is his first trip back to his home town after 20 years' absence.

Mrs. Harry Dill is expected to return to La Habra next week after several months' visit with relatives in northern California and Oregon.

Miss Leta Brown, who has been spending several weeks with her nieces, Mrs. E. M. Jackson and Mrs. T. W. LaMonte, left the last of the week for India, where she will do missionary work. She expects to visit in Japan and China en route.

The following officers of the auxiliary of the American Legion were installed at a meeting in Orange Tuesday evening: Mrs. E. N. Whitmore, past president; Mrs. John Torp, president; Mrs. Simon Treff, first vice president; Mrs. John Frazier, second vice president; Mrs. E. H. Pesbody, secretary; Mrs. E. Stephens, treasurer; Mrs. William Wessell, chaplain.

They Called Her Scrawny, But Not for Long

Is your face drawn and pinched? Your skin flabby? Are your cheeks sunken with great hollows under the eyes? Does your figure show unbecoming angles instead of the softly rounded slimmness of youth?

All these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

There's nothing so good as McCoy's Tablets to put on firm flesh, round out face and figure and build up rich, red blood.

So if you need a few pounds of flesh to round out the hollows, if you want to get back oldtime energy and health, get a box of McCoy's Tablets today. Just a short treatment will make you look and feel like a new person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price—Adv.

PRODIGES OF RADIO

Just out of long dresses, two little girl radio entertainers are attracting a lot of attention on the Pacific Coast. One is little Laura Daubman, 5-year-old Russian pianist, who has already memorized 20 Bach preludes and plays them with uncanny interpretation from KGO, San Francisco. She has studied the piano but a short time under Lev Shorr. The other is also a movie star. She is Joyce Coad, who leaves the studios of Paramount Pictures every Tuesday to recite, sing and tell stories from KNX, Hollywood. Laura is shown here at the piano, with Lev Shorr coaching her, and in the inset is Joyce.

TURNER ONE OF ONLY SIX NEW VICTOR AGENTS

When the Victor Talking Machine company division of Radio Victor corporation recently announced its entry into the manufacture of radio it was electing new agents to the radio industry, points out L. M. Turner of the Turner Radio company, Victor dealer. In Southern California applications for dealer franchises were received from 95 per cent of the established radio stores," Turner adds. "However, the old Victor organization of thirty years' standing was so solid that it was necessary to make only six changes in the whole Southern California territory. The Turner Radio company, Victor dealers, is one of the six and we take it as a highly prized compliment that our past services withstood the searching investigation that they were subjected to by the Victor representatives."

"The Victor factory is the largest musical instrument factory in the world. Bigness is not always proof of the best nor is rapid growth always built on the foundation of quality. Time alone places the correct estimate on the value of accomplishments of business organizations as it does on the deeds of men. After 30 years of business Victor holds the distinction of being the only radio manufacturer of the season whose demand exceeds the supply."

TALKIES CLAIMING BBC'S RADIO MEN

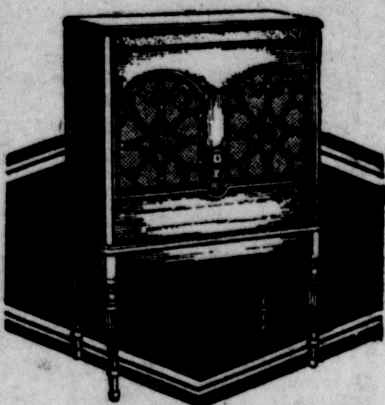

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The British Broadcasting company is faced with a shortage of technical men due to their leaving the company's employment to join the talkie movie.

Six of the BBC engineers recently resigned at the same time to take up engineering positions with a talkie company.

During the last few weeks there have been numerous defections from the staff, the majority of them going to the spoken movies.

LAUDER FIRST OVERSEAS
Sir Harry Lauder, who recently broadcast a program over the NBC network, is said to have been the first singer to be heard over Atlantic ocean on radio waves.

MANY FARMERS ARE BENEFITED BY NEW CHAIN

The NBC, operates from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., central standard time.

The National Farm and Home hour, the official program of the United States department of agriculture, the Federal Farm board, and leading agricultural organizations, including the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau federation, the National 4-H Boys' and Girls' club and the Association of Land Grant colleges opened the network.

The last four named organizations include an aggregate membership of more than 4,000,000 farm residents, while the United States department of agriculture and Federal Farm board, of course, hold the interest of every agriculturist in the country.

Get Government Reports
Officials of the department of agriculture use the period to inform listening farmers of the latest developments in the agricultural industry in every part of the world, as well as to give them the latest federal crop estimates, crop reports, market indications and other information indispensable to the modern farmer, a few minutes after it is released.

In the area blanketed by the new network are 43 per cent of the farm people of the country and an equal percentage of the nation's farms. Forty-five per cent of the farm property values of the United States are found in this greatest of agricultural regions and 35 per cent of the farm-owned radio sets can be reached by stations of the basic network alone.

Additional market-reporting facilities and other farm aids are planned for the near future, which should make the farmers of America additional millions of dollars in selling their produce, as well as welding them together into a more compact and efficient group.

Other interesting features planned for the network are such events as the detailed broadcast of the International Livestock exposition and Hay and Grain show, state and national corn husking contests and other outstanding farm events of wide scope.

Vicks Now Passes 26 Million Yearly!

More and More Millions Follow Trend of Modern Medicine and Treat Colds Externally

To keep pace with the ever-growing demand for Vicks Vapo-Rub, the external treatment for colds, another increase is being made in the figure of the Vicks slogan, made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Only a short time ago, the well known "17 Million" was raised to "21 Million." Again this figure has been outgrown, as more and more people turn to this better way of treating colds. There are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.

A generation ago, when Vicks was originated, the idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

Mothers especially have appreciated this modern vaporizing ointment, because it checks colds without risk of upsetting children's delicate stomachs.

And so Vicks spread, until today it has become the family standby for colds—adults' as well as children's—in more than 60 countries—Adv.

CROSLEY TONE IS PRAISED BY GREAT SINGERS

Joseph Chernavsky, director of the Million Dollar theater's classic jazz band, has joined other famous musicians in approving the tone quality of Crosley radios, according to Joe Wilson, manager of the radio department of the Strock Jewelry and Radio store.

Not content with allowing radios to be a purely engineering problem, the Crosley Radio corporation recently retained a number of world famous musicians to "tone test" Crosley radios. These musicians included Efrem Zimbalist, world famous Russian violinist; Alma Gluck, George Gershwin, Edith Mason and Jose Mojica. These musicians, with ears capable of isolating and listening to any particular instrument in an orchestra, assured Crosley quality by pointing out to the engineers anything wrong with the tone quality. These tone tests are the most absolute tone quality guarantees that any radio has ever offered. In adding his voice of approval to the tone quality of Crosley radio, Joseph Chernavsky said: "After listening to the natural tone of this Crosley screen grid radio, I cannot conceive how it is possible for so much value to be sold at so low a price."

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 24.—At a meeting of teachers of the Westminster Presbyterian Sunday school Tuesday evening, plans for the Christmas program of the church were discussed. It was voted to have a "White" Christmas, the program to be given by Sunday school pupils and each class to present gifts to go to the needy. Treats will be given to the pupils of the school.

Those attending the meeting were the superintendent, Ed Hensley, the Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Weld, Mrs. J. M. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds, of Los Angeles, are spending the week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reynolds. Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Kelsey moved to Long Beach Monday. Mr. Kelsey has accepted a position with the Dick-See orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. William Wakeley, of Milford, Mich., are visiting to the home of their cousin, John Pearson. They expect to spend the winter with relatives and friends in Southern California.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

For Bladder Relief is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience.

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, Jeffersonville, Ohio, says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used Lithiated Buchu (Kaiser Formula). She would have to get up 6 to 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter." Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as an osmotic salt on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 25 each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. WELL, WHO WINS

They say the football rules juggle are going to get together at the end of the season and simplify the touchdown business. That shouldn't be such a gargantuan endeavor if somebody can find one of the 1810 rule books. By going back 20 years and forgiving and forgetting all that has occurred in the way of rule changes since then, some great and lasting good may be accomplished.

At least, for the customers. It's setting so that the fans at an ordinary football game actually have to go ask some official after the game who won. A case in point.

Brown beat Princeton the other day, but of all the thousands who saw the game, no one would reach right down in his pocket and bet a dollar on the contest until they had read the newspapers.

FALSE CHEERS

We have the picture of Princeton leading Brown by a score of 12 to 7 with three minutes to play. It is fourth down. The quarterback is in Brown's ball-calls for a forward pass. He shoots it through the air straight into the arms of a waiting end. The end races across the goal line and touches earth with the oval.

In the old days nearly everybody—even the lady two seats to the rear who asks why the players don't run the other way—because the path is clear—would have known that was a touchdown. There would have been wild cheering over the snatching of victory after the game seemed lost. But no!

The stands sat hushed. Even after the player had raced across the line, the stands were silent. They sat like the Roman senate might have sat, waiting for Cicero to launch his exordium.

Suddenly the referee's arm shot up. It was the signal—touchdown! And the stands—after a full minute of suspense—broke into a mad roar of victory.

YOU DON'T FOOL US

It was like this, you see. The stands had seen two Princeton men run for touchdowns in the period preceding that last swift dash across the goal. They had cheered them, only to find out after all the shouting that there weren't touchdowns at all. There had been some technicality.

The stamping, cheering and whistling had been wasted. They would be fooled no more. They would wait and see.

CHASING THE CAPTAINS

The tendency of coaches to choose captains to the bench has shown a marked increase this year. It is remarkable, too, that captains have been dethroned mostly after the teams lose games. If the coaches are the real leaders and direct the play of the team, why pick on the poor skipper? It's all very complicated.

U. S. College Athletes 'Subsidized,' Charge

INVESTIGATION COMPLETED BY CARNEGIE MEN

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Athletes in American colleges are subsidized today to a point where one in every seven receives support because of his athletic ability, a bulletin issued by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching declares.

An investigation which took three and one-half years finds few colleges and universities guiltless of the charge of proslavery.

Educational institutions from coast to coast are directly accused of persuading prominent athletes to attend, and of paying these boys, directly or indirectly, for their athletic ability.

Commercialism in college athletics, declared in the report to be "the darkest single blot on American sport," is charged to more than 100 of the schools which were investigated by Dr. Howard J. Savage, staff member of the Carnegie foundation, and his associates.

Only 28 Guiltless
Out of 112 educational institutions visited by representatives of the Carnegie foundation, only 28 were found guiltless of the accusation of subsidizing athletes.

Yale, Cornell, Chicago, the United States Military academy, Wesleyan and Williams are among the schools at which the Carnegie investigators found no evidence of commercialism. Canadian colleges and universities came off unscathed, with the remark that "Canadian university sportsmanship is sufficiently strong to prevent recruiting."

For the rest, the Carnegie committee's report was fairly damning. Fordham, Columbia and New York university in the east, Wisconsin and Northwestern in the Middle West, Southern California and Oregon Agricultural college in the Far West, come in for special condemnation on the grounds of proslavery.

Notre Dame Listed
Catholic colleges and universities are listed as furnishing assistance to students of athletic proclivities. Notre Dame, Fordham and Georgetown come in for special mention.

The report showed that about one in seven of our present day college athletes is paid, in one way or another, for his athletic ability.

As a system, with its various ramifications, whereby colleges and universities seek and obtain star athletes from high and preparatory schools is described in detail. The report tells how Brown university handles its recruiting correspondence, how Southern California indulges in proselytizing and how Wisconsin, despite the denials of its authorities, evades the agreement of the "Big Ten."

$40,000 at U.S.C.
As for athletic scholarships, 75 are available at Penn State, the report declares, a like number at New York university and 25 at Colgate. Southern California has $40,000 in such scholarships available, Syracuse $14,000 annually.

In declaring that one in seven college athletes are paid, Dr. Savage, head of the Carnegie investigating committee of four, said that he was setting a "modest, conservative figure."

"The number of subsidized players on first class varsity football teams throughout the country probably would run as high as 50 per cent," Dr. Savage said.

Ewing Sells Oaks, Price Is $400,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—J. Cal Ewing, president of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, today confirmed rumors of sale of the club to a group of capitalists headed by A. Robert Miller, former general manager of the Yellow Cab company.

Ewing refused to announce what the monetary consideration in the deal was, but it is generally understood it approximated $400,000.

Carl Zamocho, former major league pitcher and coach of the University of California baseball team, will be the vice-president and manager of the club.

Ewing, who has been president of the club for a number of years, will be managing director of the organization for a year.

Del Howard, vice-president, and Ivan Howard, manager, will not be associated with the new organization.

S. A. FOOTBALL FANS SET OUT FOR BIG GAME

Utilizing every mode of transportation, including aircraft, scores of Santa Ana and Orange county football fans began the great trek today for Palo Alto and the Stanford-U. S. C. classic of Saturday.

The vanguard left last night but the bulk of the big local delegation was expected to leave tonight and tomorrow morning. While most of the fans were traveling by motor, local railroad and steamship agencies reported a number of reservations.

A partial list of those intending to make the trip follows:
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. John McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Urban Plavan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Lansing B. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guard, Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Carden, Mr. and Mrs. Les Eckel, C. C. Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Nicky, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Daley, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sauers, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. West, Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hightower, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eckles, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Neff.

Charles F. Hall, James Tuffee, Sam Jenkins, Earl B. Abbey, Alex Lacy, Brown, Wm. D. Parker, Mason Yould, Edmund West, Dean Collier, William J. Kelly, Homer Cheney, J. L. McBride, "Bud" House, Adolph Hecker, George Lackaye.

H. C. Snow, H. M. Secrest, Raymond, and how Wisconsin, despite the denials of its authorities, evades the agreement of the "Big Ten."

As for athletic scholarships, 75 are available at Penn State, the report declares, a like number at New York university and 25 at Colgate. Southern California has $40,000 in such scholarships available, Syracuse $14,000 annually.

TROJANS SEEK TO RETAIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Southern California's Trojans set out tonight for Palo Alto and their most important game of the season, scheduled with the Stanford Cardinals at Stanford stadium Saturday. Here is Coach Howard Jones surrounded by a quartet of his stars. Francis Tappan, top left, is playing and for his third straight year on the varsity. Russ Saunders, top right is playing his third straight year as a Trojan back and is a leading prospect for All-American quarterback this season. Captain Nate Barrager, lower left, is another bright All-American prospect in his job of offensive running guard and defensive center. George Dye, lower right, the 235-pound Alp from Alabama, is holding down the job of offensive center and defensive guard.

PAUL PROBABLY THROUGH WITH GRIDIRON GAME

The mysterious "case" of Norman Paul, stellar Santa Ana high school halfback who was injured in the football game at Long Beach last Saturday, was not as mysterious today.

Conflicting reports which had Paul both out for the season and able to play in the Alhambra contest here Saturday, were clarified by Coach "Tex" Oliver.

"It is unlikely that Paul will do any more football playing for Santa Ana high school," Oliver said. "He suffered a torn internal ligament in his knee which now is in a 'walking cast'."

Would Risk Injury
"Specialists told our representatives that by wearing special equipment Paul might be able to play in some of the coming games but he assured us the boy would be chance permanent injury."

"We shall not subject Paul to any such risk. He is a good football player but we shall do without him rather than jeopardize his chances in other sports at which he is better."

Army and Navy Chiefs To Discuss Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 24.—Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robinson, superintendent of the Naval Academy, will meet General William R. Smith, head of the Military Academy, at Washington next week for a conference which it is hoped may lead to a renewal of athletic relations between the academies.

The meeting was suggested in a letter received here Tuesday from General Smith. Admiral Robinson said he would go to Washington for the conference.

ORANGE LEAGUE TEAMS RESUME FOOTBALL RACE

Orange	W.	L.	Pct.
Brea-Olinda	2	0	100
Huntington Beach	1	1	.500
Tustin	1	1	.500
Anaheim	1	1	.500
Garden Grove	1	1	.500
Garden Grove	1	1	.500
Excelsior	0	3	.000

Fighting to retain its slender lead in the Orange league, Coach Stewart White's Orange high school football squad travels to Anaheim tomorrow afternoon for its third conference start of the 1929 season.

The Orangemen, fresh from victories over Brea-Olinda and Excelsior, are topheavy favorites to upset Coach Ben Carpenter's Colonians who have made a disappointing showing to date.

Coach Bill Cole's Tustin Farmers, still a contender, go to Garden Grove for their third game. The Chillepeppers are likely to give the Farmers an unpleasant afternoon although Tustin rates as a slight favorite. Garden Grove trounced Anaheim last week in one of the season's upsets.

Huntington Beach, drawing a bye, will play a non-conference game with "Butter" Gorrell's strong Covina Colts.

Fullerton, now in the Foothill league, meets Herbert Hoover high school at Glendale.

EARNSHAW RECORDS
George Earnshaw, Philadelphia Athletics' mound ace, gained the most American league victories, 22, during the 1929 season, but issued the most free passes to first base, 125.

SANTA ANA 'B' ELEVEN MEETS MOORS FRIDAY

Out to win its third successive league game, Santa Ana high school's Class B football team will travel to Alhambra tomorrow afternoon to renew relations with the Moors after a year's interval.

Last season, the Saints were hard hit with the "flu" and with only four men in suit, were forced to forfeit to Alhambra. The Moors and Saints are virtually even this year, although the locals share the top of the conference standing along with San Diego, both schools being undefeated in two starts.

Santa Ana beat Pasadena the first week, 7 to 0, and then tossed out Long Beach, 7 to 6 last week. Alhambra is sitting fifty-fifty on games won, losing the first to San Diego and then copping the next from Pasadena, 6 to 0.

It has been years since the local school has been represented by a winning combination in the middle-weight class but Coach Clyde Patton has manufactured a fast, smart little aggregation that is getting somewhere in high class competition, although San Diego is an almost sure clinch to win the title, having trampled roughshod over all opposition so far.

Lynn Chamberlain and Burt Winslow are Patton's two outstanding ball carriers, both capable of stellar performances. Chamberlain, especially, has been unstoppable. Both will start tomorrow while the other boys in the backfield will be picked from "Zeke" Chavez, Chet Dugger, Fred Bell, Russell Manderscheid and Don Cormier. Bell has been afflicting with a bad leg and will see little action.

Louis Rogers is almost certain to be on the receiving end of Chamberlain's passes while Kiyoshi Higashi takes the other end post. At tackles, Tom Cole and Francis Hall will play tackle. Adair Ruckert, developing into an excellent punter, patrols one guard hole while Garth Olsen takes care of the other side of the line. Don Casey holds down the center job while Walter Mellett, "C" league center last year, is not in the game.

WILL SEE BIG GAME
NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 24.—The "big game" Saturday at Palo Alto will attract several football fans from the Newport Harbor district, it was learned today. Among those who expect to see Stanford and Southern California clash are Mr. and Mrs. Lew H. Wallace, Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Grundy, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Moore, Mrs. Ida P. Naylor and Hugh Estus.

Colored Boy Not To Play In Grid Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—What threatened to develop into a "color line" controversy at New York university was definitely settled today when "Chick" Meehan, head coach, announced that David Myers, Negro quarterback, would not be in the Violet's lineup against Georgia November 9.

"There will be no unpleasantness in the Georgia game," Meehan declared. "We did not intend to use Myers when the game was booked and he will not play in the Georgia game."

S. A. COLLEGE PREP GRIDDEFS IN SCRIMMAGE

Giving all the recruits and substitutes a real dose of football, Coach Bill Cook's junior college football team scrimmaged Coach "Tex" Oliver's high school charges yesterday afternoon at Poly field. It was the first time in two years the two local elevens have clashed.

Both coaches were getting a slant on their players, Cook preparing for the important tussle with Chaffey at Ontario and Oliver for the tough Alhambra skirmish here Saturday. Cook used mostly reserves, saving his first string for the game this week-end which is the hardest on the Don calendar and virtually a playoff for the title.

Hal Dunham and Solon Beall sprouted forth at ends, replacing the two dependables, George Warner and Ed Adams. Nevin Hoy and Crawford Nalle later went in for Dunham and Beall. Tim Wallace and Frank Miles were at tackle.

Joe Warner and Bill Crawford, first string guards, were at their usual stand as was Al Kluthe, regular center. Cook has few reserves for these two holes, although Sammy Griewold alternates at guard of center equally well. He got mixed up in an accident last week and missed action against Compton but will be ready for the Panthers Saturday.

Cook used everybody except the manager in his backfield. It now appears certain that Jack Dutton will not be in suit at Chaffey. The plunging fullback injured his knee and ankle at Compton after he made one of Santa Ana's two touchdowns. Leonard Natland has been taking daily workouts after ankle injuries and John Dugdale and Melvin Beatty, two other crumples, are again in suit. Captain Herald Hyton, contrary to reports, will be in fine shape Saturday even if he did break a rib at Compton. This burly lineman is too tough to drop out because of a mere shattered rib.

NOTE UNPOPULAR VICTOR
WILMINGTON, Oct. 24.—Joe Noto was awarded an unpopular decision over Benny (Kid) Carter in the 10-round main event here last night.

Another group of 11 players of second string caliber, together with 23 of the abused "Spartans" will start for Palo Alto Friday night. Coach Jones refused to comment on his team's chances. He said his team was in good condition and that "Stanford is strong."

While the Trojans are speeding north from Los Angeles by train, "Pop" Warner will take his Stanford charges to a secluded country club in the hills back to the university where they will remain until shortly before game time.

"Needles" to say, Warner will send the Cards through a strenuous workout this afternoon; but he will be careful of his first string men. He doesn't want them injured.

Here's Personnel
The Trojans will take off at 7:30 p. m. This contingent, all considered first string athletes or substitutes, includes:

Ends—Arbelbide, Durkee, Joslin, Jurich, Kreiger, Steponovitch, Tappan and R. Wilcox.
Tackles—Anthony, Bond, Hall, Seitz, Templeton, Hoff and Ward.
Guards—Barrager, Galloway, Shaw, Baker, Winfield and Gower.
Centers—Dye, Williamson and Neidhardt.
Quarters—Saunders, Duffield, Kemp, Brown and Shaver.
Halfbacks—Apsit, Becker, Edelson, Hammack, Mallory, Mortensen, Pinkert and Stephens.
Fullbacks—Musick, Hill and Moses.

JULIA LATHROP 1930 GRIDMEN LOSE 7-0 TILT

Julia C. Lathrop junior high school's 1930 football team, composed of players who will be eligible next year, lost a 7 to 0 game to the Huntington Beach high school Class C eleven yesterday on the Lathrop field.

The Lathrop team made more first downs and at one time had the ball on the beach five-yard line but didn't have the punch to get it across Huntington Beach its touchdown in the fourth quarter on a forward pass.

This was the second game for the 1930 Spartans and they looked better both on the offense and defense than they did in their game last week.

The Lathrop varsity was to play the Brea-Olinda "Bees" at Brea today.

The lineup:

Lathrop (0) (7) Hunt, Beach
Sticker LER Kanawyer
Showalter LTR Nunstall
King LER J. Prior
Christensen C. Thompson
C. Holmes RGL Gomez
William RGL Hokoyama
Agarso LER Anderson
Conrad F. Moore
Cotrell F. Mezawaki
Reyes LER Furuta
Roseau RHL Prior
Lathrop substitutes: Shill, Fowler, Guyan, Crumley, L. Holmes.

TAKE TO AIR FOR TEA
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Tea-trips in the air are all the rage in London, don't you know? They have proven so popular that afternoon tea-trips are to be instituted next year by the Northern Air Lines company. Girls will be engaged to act as waitresses and tea will be handed around by a girl in cap and apron during an hour's trip.

WILLARD 110'S HUMBLE BEACH 'D' TEAM, 13-0 SONNENBERG'S VICTORY OVER LEWIS THRILLS

BY HAROLD YOEUL

The Frances E. Willard junior high school 110-pound football team played its second game of the season with the Huntington Beach "Dees" and won by a margin of 13 to 0 yesterday. This was the second game with this team. The other game played at Huntington Beach was won by the Indians, 6 to 0.

The North Main streeters outplayed the Seaside's all during the game. The Indians' backfield was fast and hit hard while the line held well.

Huntington Beach completed numerous passes but always lost the ball when near the goal.

Shelton, Willard's guard, saved two touchdowns by running down and tackling a Beach man in the open.

Wimbush, Flske and Swishelm played best for Willard in the backfield, and Markell and Shelton starred on the line.

Willard (13) (0) Hunt, Beach
Anderson LER Anderson
Jones LTR Tuonshie
Hall LER Gomez
Markell RGL Tompson
Shelton RGL Byrnes
Kring RGL Hokoyama
Geren RGL Kalauer

PAUL LOST TO S. A. TEAM FOR SEASON

ter and which mean much more to the boy himself."

Paul, in his junior year last spring won first places both in the broad jump and 220 yard low hurdles at the Southern California Interscholastic track meet. He won the low hurdles and took second in the broad jump in the state meet. He is expected to be even better in these events next season.

Crumley In Lineup
With Paul virtually written out of the lineup for the season, Coach Oliver yesterday began searching for someone to fill the star's place. The consensus was that Don Crumley, a letterman of last year, would be the new left halfback. He was at the post in scrimmage with Bill Cook's junior college squad.

Two other possibilities are Doyle Gilbert, like Paul, a track team broad jumper, and Grove Dolman. Oliver lined up his team against the Dees as follows: Heeren, Hirsch, Blower and Meisinger, ends; Hartman and Clayton, tackles; Johnston, Martin and Long, guards; Vance, center; Rebohn, Crumley, Fredericks and Hall, backs.

WILLARD 110'S HUMBLE BEACH 'D' TEAM, 13-0 SONNENBERG'S VICTORY OVER LEWIS THRILLS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Gus Sonnenberg, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, retained his crown last night amid much commotion on the part of the fans, seconds, Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, his opponent and the referee.

It all happened with the third and deciding fall. Sonnenberg had taken the first fall with his famous flying tackle and Lewis took the second with a series of headlocks. When they came out for the third and last fall, Sonnenberg outloose with a tackle which Lewis cleverly sidestepped and Sonnenberg landed in the second round ringside. At the count of 17 seconds, he had failed to return to the ring and one of his seconds started to help the champion back into the ring. He was stopped by the referee, however, and one of Lewis' seconds, figuring the match was over, clambered into the ring and put a bathrobe around Lewis' shoulders.

As the bathrobe settled into place, Sonnenberg, who had climbed back into the ring, made another flying tackle and Lewis went to the mat, losing the third fall.

Lewis and his seconds protested and the crowd yelled. The referee stood by his decision, however, that Sonnenberg had taken the third fall, by pointing out that both corners had violated the wrestling rules by having seconds in the ring.

HUSKIES WILL PAY TOP FOR NEW COACH

SEATTLE, Oct. 24.—Enoch Bagshaw has resigned, but the Huskies of the University of Washington will carry on under their football coach until the 1929 season is completed.

And they will play their best football.

In the meantime, a hunt will be started by university authorities for a man to fill the position held by "Baggy" for nine years. The best that can be had for any price will be the objective.

At practice last night Bagshaw informed his squad that he had turned in his resignation, with an offer to serve during the remainder of the season and that the offer had been accepted. The coach will be paid in full for the remainder of his contract, which has two years to run.

As practice ended, the Huskies showed their fondness for the little mentor. They slapped him on the back and escorted him from the field with promise to do their best until after the final game with Chicago at Chicago.

Many men have been suggested as possible future coaches of the University of Washington, and Earl Campbell, graduate manager, has let it be known that the policy of paying coaches no more than deans receive—about $8000 a year—will be discarded in the search for a man who will put Husky football teams on top.

Bob Zuppke of Illinois is one of the men already nominated for the position.

Others include Dr. C. W. Spears, Minnesota; Harry Stuhldreher, Villanova; T. W. Cavanaugh, Fordham; Dick Hanley, Northwestern; William W. Roper, Princeton; James M. Phelan, Purdue; Ray Morrison, Southern Methodist, and B. W. Mireman, Tulane.

When the fight over Bagshaw opened last winter, and efforts were made by a student faction to force him to resign, Kauts Rookne was prominently considered for the place, with Don Miller coming out until Rookne was available. However, both coaches now are under contracts and were believed out of the picture.

CHAPTER XLVI

"Eva!" Helen repeated, her voice a mixture of surprise and consternation. "What are you doing here?"

Eva removed the handkerchief she had pressed against her lips and answered, with a note of defiance, that she had come to see Brent.

"You wouldn't come to the telephone this morning," Eva charged; "and I had to do something."

"I'm sorry," Helen apologized. "I told Mrs. Wethering I would not talk to anyone. But Eva dear, you mustn't stay I want to see Leonard. Won't you please go? My car is downstairs. Wait in it, please, please."

"No," Eva stubbornly shook her head.

"Oh, but you must," Helen insisted.

"Why?" Eva asked pitiously. "I have something to say to Leonard, too. Helen, I don't know why you want to see him, but, Bob told me about last night. I got it out of him, and Mrs. Wethering said you were not really ill. Oh, Helen, you aren't going to marry Leonard, are you? You can't! After all those things you said."

"Stop, please stop," Helen begged. "But why did you refuse to see Bob? He was almost insanely happy over your promise to marry him and then... then... oh Helen, tell me, tell me."

"I can't tell you anything—until I've seen Leonard," Helen said mischievously. "Do this for me, Eva; go now."

"If I thought that it would help

Bob, I'd go," Eva answered. "I know I love you more than I ever can repay, Helen, but this is something... I only want to ask Leonard if he is going to marry you. You see what it means to me. But I'd wait for Bob's sake."

"Then do go, do hurry," Helen pleaded. "It may mean a great deal to Bob."

Eva reluctantly gathered up her hat and coat. As she put them on her eyes fell upon Brent's desk. It was open—the desk he kept locked. She saw a pile of newspaper clippings for him. The idea of leaving a note for him, deliberately avoiding a meeting with Helen's glance, and sat down before it. When she had written the note she looked for a blotter but there was none in sight. She pulled out a drawer and closed it again to try another.

With the second drawer she was more successful. She took out the blotter, used it and started to put it back again when she saw what had been lying under it.

With a cry she reached for the dully gleaming object and drew it out.

"It's a locket like mine!"

"Helen rushed to her side. She saw in a glance that the locket Eva was holding up to view was identical with the one Brent had given her from her father—from the man he had said was her father, she remembered.

"It's" but she got no further in saying she thought the locket was hers.

Eva had opened it. "It's mine!" the girl exclaimed excitedly. "Oh, Helen, I'm so glad for mother's sake. You've no idea how she prized it. She hasn't quite forgiven me for losing it. Leonard must have found it and didn't know whom to return it to."

Helen was staring at the pictured face in the open locket. Charles Nellin! She recognized him easily. Among Evangeline Cunningham's possessions she had found a likeness of him that the eloping girl had left behind.

She was too confused for a moment to speak—to question Eva. And then, while Eva still held the locket in plain view Leonard Brent opened the door of his apartment. He always entered without unnecessary noise. The two girls did not hear him even when he came up behind them. They were absorbed in Eva's find and their own thoughts concerning it. Eva was delighted for her mother's sake, and Helen was trying to put her chaotic impressions in order.

Suddenly, with the ferocity of a tiger, Brent reached for the locket. But just an instant before he did so Eva screamed and automatically thrust the locket farther from his reach. Then, as she recognized him, she started to relax. In another second he'd have had the locket in his possession had Helen not sprung forward and seized it.

Brent turned upon her with a snarl. "Give that to me," he rasped, and neither girl had ever seen the beast on the surface of him before that moment.

Helen knew instantly that the locket was of vital importance to him. And it concerned the Cunningham family. She did not need time to decide that Brent must not have it.

No thought of herself, of possible exposure that might land her in prison, came to her as she made the next move in the game. It was enough to frustrate Brent.

She turned and ran toward the door. Brent had not expected her to do this—to be so quick to grasp the fact that the locket was evidence he wished to conceal at any cost.

Helen gained the foyer before he came after her. She reached the door, jerked it open and flew out into the hall just a few steps ahead of him. She was fast but a short distance from the elevator Brent had almost caught up with her. Helen heard him calling viciously to her to stop and her heart sank. She dared not call for help, and unless she had an elevator on the floor she never could escape with the locket.

Oh, thank God there was one descending. The operator was even then closing the door. Helen cried out to him to wait, but he had his car in motion and her wild manner confused him. He fumbled with the controls, trying at the same time to hold the door open.

Helen rushed into the elevator as it teetered up and down, thrusting herself perilously through the narrow opening. The operator did not see Brent behind her.

He started his car down and gave the door a strong push to clang it to.

Helen whirled about. Then she screamed and turned her face away.

When they carried her out of the car after the operator had over come his own horror sufficiently to summon help, she was in a dead faint.

They took her back into Brent's apartment, where the Japanese servant was doing his best to quiet Eva. The girl had followed Brent to the door. Mercifully, she did not witness the accident. Bewilderment and the shock of Helen's scream mingling with Brent's one cry of mortal agony held her rooted where she stood, swaying dizzily and fast succumbing to the hysteria that was sweeping over her.

The Japanese helped her back into the living room. Her cries were the first sounds that came to Helen's ears when consciousness returned.

For a few seconds Helen did not understand—then her hands flew to her face and she sobbed aloud while memory repainted the indescribable scene she had witnessed.

A physician was sent to the apartment as soon as he pronounced himself unable to aid the man who lay on the floor of the closed elevator. He found Helen quieter, trying to overcome her own emotion to help Eva, who still remained hysterical, though less violently so.

Have you been with... is he... Helen faltered brokenly.

Eva caught the significance of the motion. "Oh no, no!" she screamed.

"Don't dear, don't," Helen pleaded.

"Please, let me attend her," the doctor said. Helen stepped aside.

The superintendent of the building came in after dispersing the crowd of curious tenants that had gathered outside the door. Helen answered his questions as best she could.

Then others came. Men acting in official capacity. She was obliged to go over the story of the fatal accident many times, until at last the doctor put an end to her ordeal by ordering her to take Eva home.

Helen declared herself unable to drive her car. It was Eva who offered a sensible solution.

"Telephone for Bob," she said weakly.

He was located at his work and came as quickly as a taxicab could get him to them with a driver bribed to make all possible speed.

While they waited for him Helen had time to collect her thoughts to face her new situation.

Brent was dead.

All that his death meant to her did not come to Helen in a flash. It dawned upon her slowly that it had freed her.

Suddenly she remembered the locket. Where was it? She jumped up from the bed where she sat beside Eva, who had been ordered by the doctor to rest there, and flew out into the living room.

She'd had the locket when... when it happened.

She recoiled with horror from the thought that it might now be in the elevator.

"I've lost something," she said to the Japanese who watched curiously as she frantically searched the room.

He went on with his work of straightening up the place, which had become disordered during the recent commotion.

While Helen flung pillows off the divan to search there he moved stealthily toward a bit of gleaming rod that lay on the floor near the door.

Helen's evident concern over her loss had aroused his curiosity. He sensed a reward. His eyes moved avidly over the room while he worked, and more calm than Helen, he had seen the locket.

But just as he stooped to pick it up Helen saw it too. She rushed over and held out her hand for it. The servant was forced to give it over.

Helen opened it and stood staring at Charles Nellin's photograph, asking herself a thousand questions.

Where had Eva's mother got this locket? What did she know of Charles Nellin? Or of Evangeline Cunningham?

The only answer she received was a sudden impulse to go to Mrs. Ennis and put the questions to her.

A CABLE of MANY STRANDS

YOUR MONEY, deposited in your local Security-First National Bank is one strand in a strong cable which supports local growth and prosperity. It is but one strand... you may think it is a small strand... but it is one of many. All taken together, the accumulated deposits support the business, the industry and the credit of the community.

This Bank urges upon the management of its Branches the fullest possible use of its local deposits, in making local loans and investments. Because of the great reserves of the central organization, it often is possible for a local Bank to so use a full 100 per cent. of its deposits. So your strand in the cable pulls its full strength.

TRYOUTS TO BE HELD TONIGHT FOR NEXT PLAY

With interest in the Santa Ana Community Players' organization considerably enlivened by the success, both dramatic and financial, attained by the first play of the season, "Alice-Sit-By-the-Fire," presented last week under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, members of the association today were ready to turn their attention to the plans of Miss Edith Cornell, director of the second play, scheduled for presentation on the nights of November 21, 22 and 23.

Miss Cornell has announced her choice as Booth Tarkington's "The Intimate Stranger" and has called a tryout for roles to be held at 7 o'clock tonight in The Barn, on McClay street just south of East Fourth street. It is her intention to feature as much new material as possible in the play, and she has asked anyone who is interested in play production, and who might be inclined to take part, to be present between 7 and 8 o'clock tonight and read the play informally with a view to aiding her in assembling a competent cast.

At the same time that Miss Cornell is launching the movement for the next production, Marian Helm Williams, who will direct the third play, to be given in February, has made a selection of a group of possible productions and yesterday afternoon, in her home, at 2305 North Broadway, submitted them to their study-reading committee for their study and consideration. Mrs. William Cummings is chairman of this group, which will pass upon the plays and aid Mrs. Williams in making her final choice.

Included in the group were comedies, dramas and tragedies, the choice ranging from one of George Bernard Shaw's to "The Swan," by Franz Molnar, and the tragedy, "Sun-Up."

DINNER ENJOYED

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 24.—The Seal Beach Women's Improvement club enjoyed a picnic dinner on the beach at Tenth street Tuesday. After the lunch the members motored to Huntington Beach to attend the open meeting of the Huntington Beach club, at which Miss Josephine Seaman, vice president of the state federation, was the speaker. Those attending were Mrs. E. W. Reed, president; Mrs. Mary J. Washburn, Mrs. Mary Culver, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. M. L. Callius, Mrs. Grace M. Haskell, Miss Elsie McClelland, Mrs. W. C. Ward, Mrs. J. R. John and Mrs. C. H. Greenwald.

15 DAYS AWAY FROM WORK IN SEVEN YEARS RECORD OF E. W. LASBY, OF REGISTER

Two weeks' vacation plus one day's absence from duty because of dental complications in seven years of work seems rather a record to have established, but when one reduces the period of seven years to complete number of days, 2557, counting Leap Year, and then subtracts 15 days from that, to realize that one man has worked for an uninterrupted period of 2542 days, then the achievement of Edwin W. Lasby, 604 Halladay street, of The Register circulation department, seems far out of the ordinary.

For Lasby has just completed his seventh year in that department of The Register with that faithful attention to duty as his record and today was beginning on his eighth year of service with every intention of giving the same consideration and faithfulness to patrons and employers as have characterized him in the past. When he entered the circulation department of The Register in October, 1921, he had been in the Southland only a few months, having come from his former home in St. Louis because of ill health. Prior to that he had been in the baking business, having served one firm for over 16 years as manager of the bakery, leaving that only to go into business for himself as manufacturer of bakers' supplies over a period of nine years.

JAYCEE PRESS FOLK CONVE NE ON NOVEMBER 2

Junior college journalists from all over California will hold their semi-annual convention in Long Beach on Saturday, November 2. It was learned here today when the Santa Ana Jaycee paper, The Don, was submitted for judging.

The convention is to be an all-day affair, closing with a dance for delegates. The sessions are to be held in the Breakers hotel and famous newspapermen of Southern California will talk to the junior collegians.

Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, will be the principal speaker.

Prizes will be awarded for the best makeup, best news story, best editorial and best yearbook entered.

Santa Ana is planning to stage a prominent part in the discussion groups of the conclave with both The Don and The Algor represented. Delegates who probably will attend from here are Rodney Chamberlain, Don editor-in-chief; John Dunlap, Don news editor; and Algor sport editor; Lyman Crowl, Don business manager, and U. Grant B. Meyer, Don faculty advisor.

Gum Gives Golfer Easy Hole In Two

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 26.—(U.P.)—Ex-Mayor George E. Trudel, ardent golfer, has given the rules committee something to mull over during the winter.

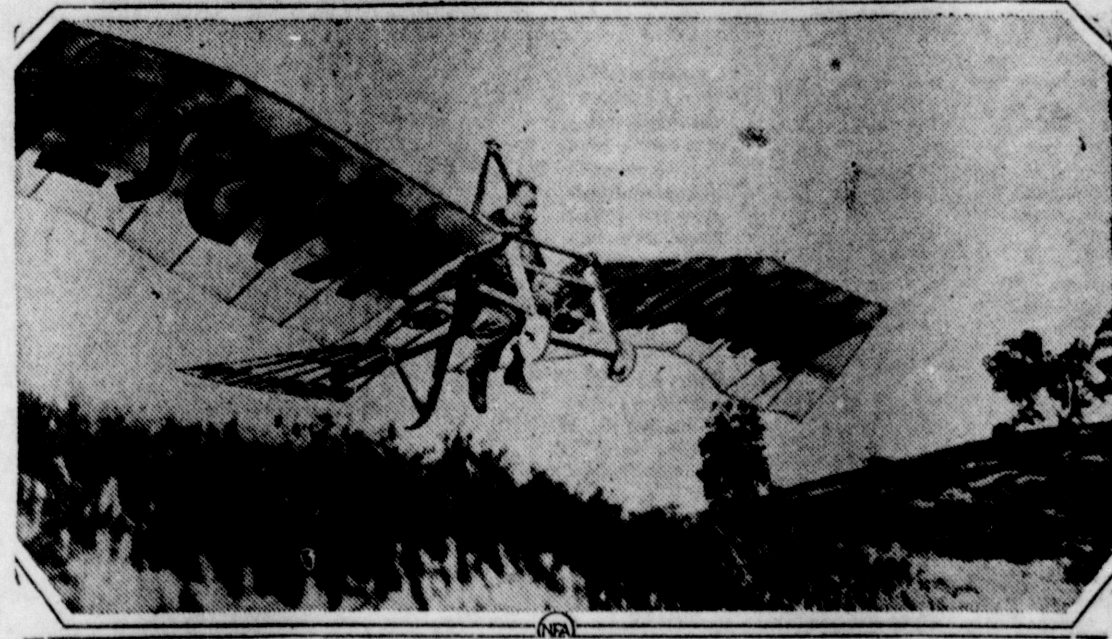

After making a tee shot Trudel discovered the ball clinging to the face of his club, attached by a piece of chewing gum. The rules say a ball once in play may not be touched by the player's hands until it is in the cup. Trudel's solution was simple. He walked to the green, tapped the club against the side of the cup and claimed the par-five hole in two. He explained that only his love of fair play deterred him from claiming a hole-in-one.

Ice thus rendered has been proven valuable in hundreds of different ways coming to his attention, and in as many words of appreciation from his patrons.

Lasby is a brother of A. J. Lasby, Santa Ana business man, and Mrs. John A. Tessmann, head of the astronomy department of Santa Ana junior college.

GLIDER EXPERT IS REAL BIRDMAN

For centuries, men have been trying to fly like the birds, and now it looks as though it had been done. For here you see Otto Richter, German aeronautical expert, descending in his new type glider after a flight in the Stoellner Mountains, near Rathenow, Germany. Ordinary cloth covers the curved wing skeletons of his strange craft, and it has a fan-tail like that of a flying bird.

CHINA MISSIONARY IS VISITOR IN S. A.

The Reformed Presbyterian church of Santa Ana is entertaining and enjoying the ministry of her pioneer missionary to China in the person of the Rev. A. I. Robb, D. D.

Dr. Robb went to the Orient in 1895 and opened work on the West river, in South China, virgin soil for the Gospel, choosing a place where no other missionaries were at work. He has crossed the Pacific ocean a number of times, several times on furlough and again when the conditions necessitated the foreigner leaving China. He has been teacher, evangelist and pastor. Dr. Robb has a daughter at home on furlough from China at present and two sons in the ministry of the Covenant church.

His visit at this time is in assisting with the Communion services of the Santa Ana church, at First and Spurgeon streets, of which the Rev. Samuel Edgar is pastor.

The Netherlands East Indies has rescinded the government tax on company bonuses to employees.

LARGE PERSIMMON CLUSTER EXHIBITED

ORANGE, Oct. 24.—A remarkable cluster of persimmons is being exhibited in the window of the real estate office of O. M. Roddeck on West Chapman avenue. There are 12 large persimmons in the cluster, which weighs about four pounds.

The fruit was grown on the Roddeck place at 272 North Olive street.

BREAKFASTERS ADDRESSED BY FIRST AVIATRIX

Interesting sidelights on experiences of men and women who attempted airplane flights in the early days of aircraft development were related at the meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club, this morning, by Dr. Bessica Raiche, the first woman in the United States to fly a plane.

Mrs. Raiche accomplished the feat at Mineola field, in 1910 when she flew a machine the length of that field, and it was this performance that later brought her the reward of a medal accrediting her with being the first woman aviator. She revealed in her talk this morning that her light weight brought her the opportunity for the flight. A crude plane was built for her family, she disclosed, and when it came time for testing, she was chosen because she weighed less than 100 pounds, she asserted.

Describes Crude Planes
"Persons who see the planes of today and note their efficiency cannot realize what the early day aviators had to contend with," said Dr. Raiche, following a description of some of the crude devices developed for airships. She recalled that it was considered something of an event when a pilot could get the tail of a plane off the ground. She asserted that only about three out of every 100 built would fly.

"Men who first entered the game were not mechanics, but they were men of wealth and vision and their vision at that time brought aviation to the world."

Hostesses Join in Presenting Smart Bridge Affair

As congenial and friendly as a smaller more informal gathering was the delightfully appointed bridge luncheon presented at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Charles Kendall of 311 Cypress avenue and Mrs. Parke S. Roper of 807 Spurgeon street.

The rich shades of autumn months were used by the hostesses in arranging tables for the affair. A profusion of lovely flowers which had been sent by interested friends of the two were arranged in small baskets at each table and place cards and other decorative details were in harmonizing tones.

One table was set for Los Angeles guests of Mrs. Kendall who included Mrs. J. C. Page, Mrs. J. C. Page Jr., Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. C. Benbrook and Mrs. A. Crutcher. Assisting Mrs. Kendall and Mrs. Roper in greeting their hundred guests and in other pleasant details of the afternoon's affair were Mrs. M. A. Yarnell, Mrs. L. A. Collier, and Mrs. A. V. Herr.

When bridge scores were added at the conclusion of the afternoon it was learned that Mrs. W. A. Flood was high, Mrs. George Briggs was second and Mrs. Earl Morrow was third. Each received a lovely piece of rose crystal.

Card Club Entertained With Merry Evening

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White entertained their five hundred club last night at a pleasant evening of cards followed by a delicious supper. The handsome prizes which had been secured by club members for the occasion were awarded Mrs. White and Leonard Musick who were high and Mrs. Musick and Richard Metz, low.

Those enjoying the evening included the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Musick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lepper and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Metz.

Father O'Sullivan's Niece to Marry at San Juan Mission

The Rev. Father St. John O'Sullivan, parochial priest at the San Juan Capistrano mission, will officiate Saturday morning at the nuptial mass of his niece, Miss Mary Frances O'Sullivan of Los Angeles and S. L. Pancoast of San Juan Capistrano.

The charming young woman, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Sullivan of Los Angeles, is well known in this county as she has visited many times at the home of her uncle. She was born in Nashville, Tenn., but has lived in California many years and she is a graduate of St. Vincent's academy and St. Mary's academy, both of Los Angeles.

Three years ago Miss O'Sullivan took part in the mission pageant which was presented weekly at the San Juan mission. It was while she was appearing in the pageant that she met Mr. Pancoast who is construction superintendent of the mission. He has lived in the mission town for the past four years, having come to California in 1921 from Philadelphia where he was born.

The ceremony will be a simple one but even the most simple wedding is lovely at the old mission where arched corridors and colorful flowers make a beautiful background for the bridal party as it winds its way across the patio to the Father Serra church which is built on the site of the chapel erected hundreds of years ago by Indians working under Father Serra's direction.

The bride will be attended by Miss Lucy Agnes O'Sullivan, her younger sister, and A. W. Coghlan of Los Angeles will act as best man. A reception will be held after the wedding in Father O'Sullivan's apartment and Mr. Pancoast and his bride will leave for a honeymoon in the northern part of the state. On their return they will make their home in San Juan Capistrano.

YOU and your Friends

Mrs. G. L. Licht of South Broadway, and her house guest, Mrs. John Cooley of Long Beach, and Miss Mary Pomeroy of South Broadway, spent today in Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Mrs. Ruby Rees, Naiswald of New York City, has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. A. D. Bishop of Fairhaven avenue for the past eight weeks, will conclude her visit tomorrow and return to the east. Mrs. Naiswald is a newspaper writer of long experience and was feature writer on the old New York Globe. She is a native of Indiana and had the honor of founding the Indiana society in New York City, the second state society in the metropolis (Ohio was the first) and one of the largest.

Miss Katherine Best is enjoying a week's visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Best, 613 South Ross street. Miss Best has been in Los Angeles for the past year and a half and last year attended Chouinard School of Arts but is at present studying directly under Franz Geritz, noted for his mastery of a medium that has regained the interest of artists and connoisseurs in the past few years, that of wood block cutting and printing.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. McCarty of 610 West Washington avenue will be guests of Mrs. McCarty's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell T. McCarty of Hollywood at the Stanford-U.S.C. football game Saturday.

Dr. Mary Wright of North Broadway will leave Saturday for Phoenix, Ariz., to visit her son, Lawrence C. Wright.

Mrs. Mary Jane Moore left yesterday morning on the Santa Fe "Scout" for her home in Stonewall, Okla., where she will remain indefinitely. Mrs. Moore has been spending the summer in this city.

Mrs. Carey Milton of 1233 West Third street has completed arrangements for leaving October 27 on the Santa Fe "Missionary" to return to her home in Perry, Okla., following a summer spent visiting her daughter here.

Harmon Summers left Tuesday on the Santa Fe train "California Limited" for Benton, Ill., taking the remains of his wife for interment there. He is expected to return to this city in several weeks.

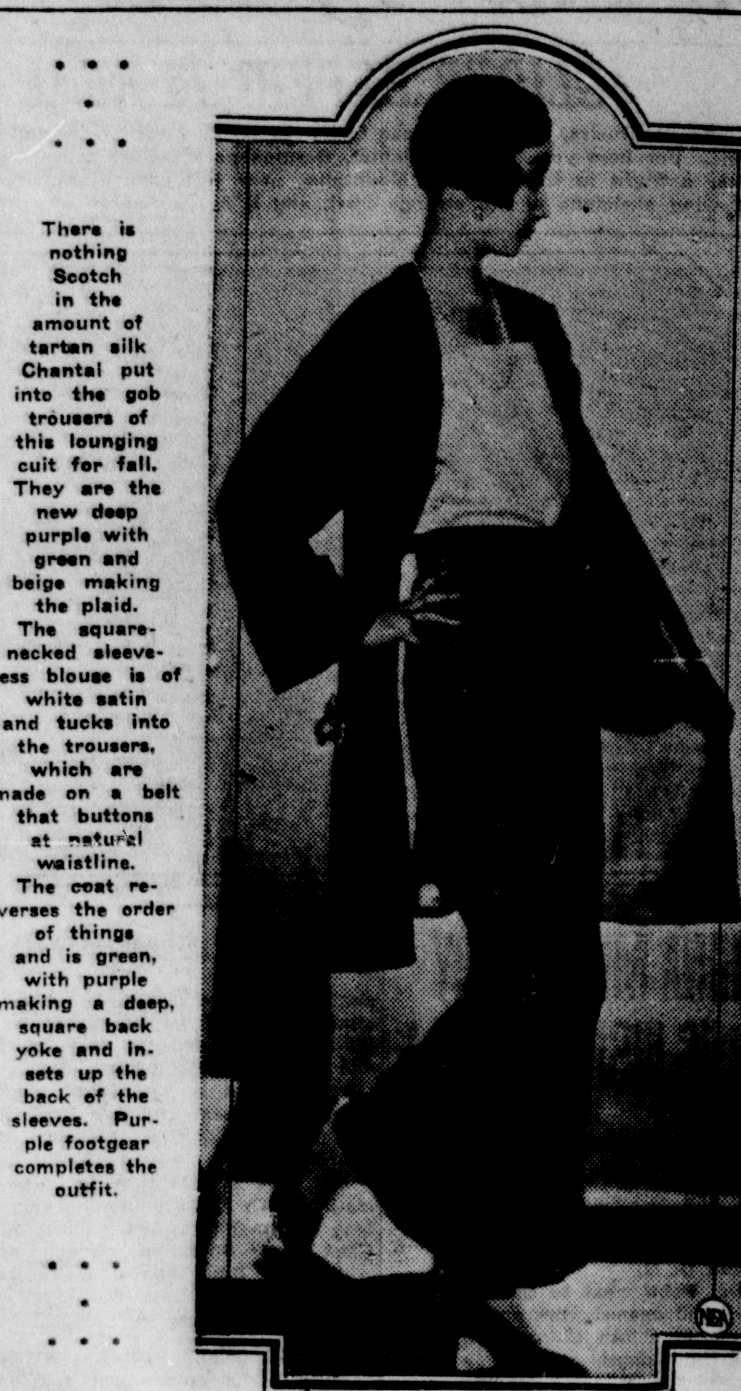

C. M. McCain, realtor of this city, left yesterday on the Santa Fe "California Limited" for Paducah, Ky., and Chicago, Ill., where he will visit with an aunt where he spent his childhood days, stopping also in Miami and Orlando, Fla., and Little Rock, Ark., on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Alfred Ault, Occidental college student, motored to Santa Ana yesterday and returned to college today, after visiting his mother at 210 Barton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Garland of 1030 North Custer street motored to Los Angeles to attend the world's championship wrestling match.

Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Griggs and baby daughter, Elizabeth Ann, of Winslow, Ariz., are spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Griggs, of 950 West Pine street. Dr. Griggs will return to Arizona Sunday, but Mrs. Griggs and her

SMART LOUNGING SUIT

There is nothing Scotch in the amount of tartan silk Chantal put into the gob trousers of this lounging suit for fall. They are the new deep purple with green and beige making the plaid. The square-necked sleeveless blouse is of white satin and tucks into the trousers, which are made on a belt that buttons at natural waistline. The coat reverses the order of things and is green, with purple making a deep square back yoke and insets up the back of the sleeves. Purple footgear completes the outfit.

New Book Review Section Has First Meeting Of Season

The first meeting of Ebells' Second Book Review section was held yesterday afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. E. M. Nealley of Tusin when Mrs. Terry Stephenson reviewed Ellen Glasgow's "They Stopped to Folly."

An idea of the clever fashion in which the story is written was given by Mrs. Stephenson in the number of passages which she read. She dwelt particularly upon the parts describing the characters in the tale.

Preceding the review, Mrs. D. E. Maloney, secretary, read the minutes of the meeting at which the section was organized which were written in clever verse form.

The members of the new section include Mrs. E. M. Nealley, Miss Beulah May, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Mrs. W. P. Read, Mrs. J. Frank Burke, Mrs. Maxwell Burke, Mrs. C. F. Maloney, Mrs. W. H. DeWolf, Mrs. O. M. Robbins, Mrs. Luvicy Carter, Mrs. B. J. MacMullen, Mrs. Wade Warner, Mrs. Lloyd A. Chenoweth, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill, Mrs. H. H. Dana, Mrs. B. F. White, Mrs. B. B. Kellogg, Mrs. S. M. Robinson.

Mrs. F. L. Andrews, Mrs. Mary F. Hutchins, Mrs. Binnie Conner, Mrs. E. T. McFadden, Mrs. J. I. Clark, Mrs. C. C. Metzgar, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. W. L. Delmling, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. L. K. Cervantes Club Holds Delightful Supper In College Y

Members of the Cervantes club, Santa Ana junior college Spanish students' organization, held a delightful pot-luck supper last night in the college "Y" hut. Bright yellow and scarlet dahlias and other autumn flowers were used in the hut.

Following the enjoyable dinner, small Bobby Arnold, a visitor, gave a reading. A Spanish skit was put on by Doyle Stockton, LeRoy Arnold and Miss Ruth Yale. Miss Micaela Jimenez gave an original Spanish monologue, after which Bobby Arnold sang a song. Group songs were led by Miss Mary Evans, faculty member and sponsor for the club.

In a brief business session, it was decided that the Cervantes club will meet November 20 at Ketter's confectionery for a dinner meeting, and plans for the dinner were discussed by the members at large. Miss Mary Ford, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Eric Reinau was elected secretary-treasurer to fill the resignation of Miss Evelyn Harding.

Orange Woman's Club Gives Benefit Luncheon

One of the most important events of the season for the Orange Woman's club, was the benefit luncheon given yesterday when business men and women and members of the Lions club were served at noon and clubwomen and their guests were served at 1 o'clock. During the afternoon Mrs. E. D. Stanley, press chairman, announced that as a result of the event $450 would be given to the Orange County health camp.

The luncheon tables were attractive with autumn leaves in vivid reds and yellows scattered down their length. Yellow cosmos were used in the dining room and the lobby. The Halloween motif was carried out in the other decorations and table appointments.

Mrs. Leon DeW. Lames, president of the club, presided and the musical program presented during the luncheon was arranged by Mrs. Walter Kogler.

The program included several dances and vocal solos by Miss Sallie Coe and Miss Dorothy Coe, their mother, Mrs. Jess Coe acting as their accompanist, and a solo by Rex Parks with a solo by Rex Parks with Mrs. Parks accompanying. A group of ensemble numbers by Miss Betty, Miss Dorris and Stewart Bergher of Anaheim and readings by Miss Mary Boyd and Milton Melon of Santa Ana were presented by the Visel studio.

A quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Green, Mrs. W. F. Blakie and Harold Gorton gave a group of solos and ensemble numbers.

Following the program a fashion show was presented by the Dorothy shop, of Meyers millinery and the Stucky bootery. Gowns, hats and shoes were modeled by Miss Nellie Lewis, Miss Billy Parks, Miss Edna Case, Miss Edna Raney, Mrs. Elizabeth Leland, Mrs. V. A. Wood and Mrs. John George.

Miss Lewis modeled evening gowns exclusively and Mrs. Leland school girl models. Especially lovely was the apricot and silver frock worn by Miss Lewis with silver slippers. Among the attractive costumes worn by Miss Raney was a rust colored afternoon frock with scalloped collar and cuffs, close fitting hat of rust and brown shoes and hose. One of the chic frocks modeled by Mrs. Wood was a black satin ensemble suit with a white vest which she wore with a silver hat, grey hose and black patent pumps.

Miss Parks was lovely in a purple sports suit with hat to match and Mrs. John George in a distinctive afternoon gown of green with black hat and suede pumps. Miss Case wore a smart afternoon gown of black satin with embroidered velvet hat which was particularly becoming. One of the models especially approved by the clubwomen and worn by Mrs. Leland was a sports outfit of blue, a hat in mixed colors with a velvet band of striped orange and black velvet.

Hendricks, Miss Mary Ford, Miss Agnes McKinstry, Miss Isabelle Siricusa, Miss Frances Harper, Miss Florence Caverley, Miss Clara Almond, Miss Mary L. Wall, Miss Grace Haskell, Miss Phyllis Jamison, Miss Mildred Staples, Miss Ruth Yale, Miss Lorene Woods, Miss Virginia Thomas, Miss Eme-line Swales, Miss Doris Corwin, Miss Evelyn Harding, Miss Mary Ford, and Miss Macela Jimenez.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Meeting Well Attended
The Northeast section of the Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, which met with Mrs. J. L. McBride at 1509 North Main street, Wednesday afternoon was attended by 50 members. Halloween designs and colors decorated the pleasant rooms. A short program of music and readings was given by several students. To carry out the holiday suggestion, refreshments of individual pumpkin pies and coffee were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Clark and Mrs. Hafer.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Oct. 24.—The wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Butts was observed by a party of friends from Inglewood this week. Their arrival was a complete surprise. They brought with them an elaborate dinner. The evening was spent in visiting and playing games.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Spaulding have been informed of a new granddaughter, the little girl having been born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spaulding, of Riverside. Mrs. Spaulding is at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Atwood, of the same place. The baby weighed seven and a half pounds, and has been named Marie Gertrude.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Sierks, of Bay street, have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Burlin Lankford, friends from Whittier, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Baker, who have been taking a few days of rest at Capistrano Hot Springs, are now at home again.

Mrs. Kathryn Severns and children, after having spent several days with friends in and around Taft, are at her home again on Cecil place.

The Rev. Lyman Bayard, pastor of the M. E. Community church, announces that on Sunday at the 11 o'clock services he will speak on "The Responsibility of the Individual Christian," and that his theme for the 7:30 o'clock services will be "Your Five Great Temptations."

At the grammar school assembly yesterday, R. F. Chambers, leader of religion education in the First Baptist church, Santa Ana, spoke on "The Star."

The Safeway company, which will occupy a room in the new Paterson building, just completed here, yesterday started putting in the fixtures and state that within a few days they will stock up and be ready for business.

Friendly Bridge Club Spends Enjoyable Afternoon

Mrs. Elton Roehm presided over a delightfully informal luncheon at her attractive home on Newport road yesterday when she entertained members of the Friendly Bridge club.

The delicious menu was served at one long table centered with gay autumn flowers and a pleasant feature of the affair was the fact that Mr. Roehm joined the group for the luncheon hour. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Roehm, Mrs. Cotton Mather, Mrs. Alvin Nowotny, Mrs. Ann Hoffmann, Mrs. William Sylvester, Mrs. Charles Cogan, Mrs. Clare Johnson, Mrs. A. N. Zerman and Mrs. Charles Artz.

The attractive bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Clare Johnson, Mrs. A. N. Zerman and Mrs. Charles Artz.

The next meeting of the group will take place November 20 at the home of Mrs. William Sylvester.

College Y. W. C. A. to Hold Pot Luck Supper

A vivid color scheme of orange and yellow flowers will lend festivity to the autumnal appearance of the Santa Ana junior college "Y" hut Monday evening when the Young Women's Christian association will hold a pot-luck supper here.

Miss Frances Harper, Y. W. C. A. president, has announced the following committees for the supper: Miss Isabelle Siricusa, refreshments; Miss Maybelle Ball, publicity; Miss Louise Ward, general arrangements. After the dinner, a social evening with music and discussion will be held. All college women are eligible for membership in the organization, and are urged to become members before the dinner Monday.

Kiwanians Enjoy Dance And Card Party at Ebells Club

Entertainment by Frank Allen, famed magician, dancing to music by the California Freshman orchestra of 19 pieces, and cards offered a delightful evening to Kiwanians and their wives at the Ebells clubhouse last night when they held their third quarterly party.

John Knox and Harry Westover assisted the magician, who not only mystified the two men but the entire audience with his clever acts.

Conclusion of the mystifying acts by the clever vaudeville performer was followed by dancing and by cards.

The card games were in charge of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowen, and at the conclusion of a series of exciting games, prizes were awarded, the honors for the women going to Mrs. J. C. Metzgar, Mrs. L. A. Wallace, W. L. Dugan and L. R. Crawford, also first and second respectively.

Delicious punch was served during the evening.

Bridge Affairs Given By Senior Guild

The Senior guild of the Church of the Messiah presented a bridge party yesterday afternoon and one last night at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spencer, of North Park boulevard.

The affairs were planned by Mesdames George Chapman, James E. Allen and Reeves Aylmore. Clever little gifts were awarded the holders of high scores at each of the eight tables in the afternoon and in the evening Mrs. W. L. Delmling, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, Vern Bishop and W. H. Haddon were presented with handsome gifts.

A Girl Who Burned a Candle

In the non-observance of correct diet rules the Law of Cause and Effect does not always work out as overweight. Quite frequently, especially in young people, Effect is represented by underweight and serious mal-nutrition.

A young woman acquaintance was burning the candle at both ends last year, working as a librarian in the day time and teaching in night school. That last minute's wink of sleep was more to be desired than breakfast, so breakfast was usually a sketchy affair taken on the fly . . . lunch, an occasion to demonstrate economy . . . dinner the same hurried, hap-hazard affair.

Along came a hard cold . . . rid of that . . . another . . . and so on, until a complete breakdown was in the offing.

Oh, yes, I forgot to tell you, she hated vegetables, and her aristocratic nose took an extra tilt at mention of milk and eggs, but gradually she was brought to see the error of her ways, and this year, her teaching position brings her in contact with small children at lunch where she is compelled to eat a lot of vegetables as a good example.

And the bloom on her cheek that came not from a box, but from the despoiled vegetables . . . and firm flesh that is slowly but surely filling up her bony hollows is proof positive of the wisdom of living on a diet in which fruit, vegetables, milk and eggs play a large part.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Green Goddess Salad

- 1 large head lettuce
- 1 bunch of chives or green onions
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1-2 tube anchovy paste
- 3 tablespoons French dressing
- 2-3 cup tart mayonnaise
- Salt, pepper and paprika

We will all admit that lettuce is good for us, helps us out on the complexion question and supposedly cleanses the system, but some of us abhor lettuce . . . I know when a savage hunk of scantily dressed lettuce is served to me I adopt towards it a policy of armed neutrality as long as it leaves me alone. But today's recipe is something else again and lettuce-haters will soon be on friendly terms with their enemy if it is disguised in this manner.

Strip the head of outer leaves, tear the head apart, wash and put in a cotton sack to drain and chill in the refrigerator. When ready to serve tear the lettuce into small pieces, pile loosely on salad plates and dress with the anchovy dressing. This is the way it is made:

Blend the anchovy paste with chilled French dressing and spoonful by spoonful, whip it into the thick tart mayonnaise. Have the chives or green onions chopped fine, strew a handful over each plate of lettuce and pour over the whole two or three tablespoonfuls of the dressing, garnish with minced parsley and paprika.

A can of imported boned sardines mashed to a paste and blended with the two salad dressings will serve nicely in case you do not like the anchovy flavor.

Individual portions of the salad have a calorie value of 225, practically all found in the fat calories of the dressing.

Exercises that correct constipation should be received joyously by every woman who suffers from this condition. When you correct

Is His Dream Girl Possible?

Sometimes I Think It Is BUT Sometimes I Think It Isn't

By VELVA G. DARLING

This is part of a letter from M. R. T., New York—"After reading your article entitled, 'Do Men Really Like Sophisticated Girls,' I just can't help answering 'No!' You guessed right when you said, 'Sometimes they don't.' If I ever met a girl like you described in the start of your column, SHE WOULD HAVE ME ENARED BEFORE I KNEW IT. I'll admit it. I'M A BACHELOR OF 26— And this is the description of his 'dream girl'—It doesn't sound so very difficult, does it?"

"Sometimes I think that the girl every man really wants deep in his heart for his wife, is the dainty bit of ruffled femininity and curls which appears in the evening through his dreamy cigarette smoke, just as she appeared to his grandfather fifty years ago. He still sings—

"Oh, the girl of my dreams is the sweetest girl— the fragile, shy, lovely maid against whose sweetness of soul his great intellect and omnipotent strength shines forth as though reflected in a thousand mirrors. The girl whom he will never feel foolish about defending—the dream girl who NEEDS his protection from the cold, hard world of which she KNOWS NOTHING."

BUT, on the other hand, while many a girl today LOOKS as though she knows nothing of the cold, hard world—many a man has discovered otherwise—but TOO LATE! Any little female with big eyes and a small quota of brain matter cannot go to the movies as often as the modern girl does, and still remain "ignorant of the world." No modern girl can go through the regime of athletics demanded at all good schools and remain "fragile." Nor can she go through the courses prescribed at college and remain "shy." Knowledge means fearlessness—knowledge means courage and power—and somehow these things don't fit in with the fluffy-ruffle bit of femininity that men love to see through their pipe smoke.

Sometimes I think it must continue to be only a dream for these twenty-six-year-old bachelors—this one of the soft, old-fashioned girl. BUT on the other hand, there is a universal rule which has never failed to work—where there is a demand, there will always come a supply! There is no reason in the world why it shouldn't work in the case of a man's dreams—especially in regard to women. The women themselves are always SO willing to help!

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

The American woman makes a chain for herself out of her possessions, according to Fannie Hurst, the novelist, who finds that the more magnificent most people become, the more stereotyped they are.

I knew some delightful people who had just the ordinary sort of a home most people have, furnished piece by piece, where they dispensed a rare hospitality and created a unique establishment. Then they made so much money they felt they ought to expand. They took an expensive apartment in an expensive district, that was so impressive looking they did not trust themselves to engineer the purchase of such important items as curtains and rugs.

A PROFESSIONAL JOB Enter the interior decorator, who had no qualms. She did a capable job—so capable that none of the old furniture lived up to the background. So enter the second hand man who bought the old, lived-in pieces, and carted them away, while rich and magnificent ones took their place.

In a short time, they had a completely new environment, every room of which looked exactly like the model rooms in expensive decorating shops. It was pleasing in an impersonal way, but there was nothing about it to indicate any of the taste of the owners.

This new home represented a large investment—much larger than they had intended it to be. They were very careful of it, and they were impressed by it—so that on the slightest provocation they would be glad to tell how expensive some rug or piece of bric-a-brac was.

And eventually, things got to a point where they had to have a new set of friends to go with the new furniture and to match the new

DOUBLE BILL OPENS IN FOX-WEST COAST

A woman on trial for her life, courtroom scenes, damaging evidence against her, a smart district attorney, who weaves a fine thread of evidence about her. These are some of the highlights of "The Drake Case," all-talking Universal feature which opened at the Fox-West Coast theater today for two days.

"Girls Gone Wild," a Fox silent film, featuring Sue Carroll and Nick Stuart, also is shown as a feature of the double bill. Gladys Brockwell has the leading feminine role in "The Drake Case," as the maid of the woman who is murdered. Suspicion is cast on her and she is arrested and tried. The murder story is different from most of the recent courtroom stories, in that its climax changes the story location. Their possessions have completely changed them from the simple, delightful people they used to be.

HIS OWN TAILOR This isn't always the case just with women. I know a man who had a very smart little dress shop on an off-street where he gave excellent personal attention to his clients. He was always pleasant, kindly, and leisurely.

Eventually he moved into a larger shop on the Avenue, and finally right into the very smartest location in the city, where he now has one of the most extensive and exclusive shops in the district. His new place is ever so smart, with a smart clientele, and is undoubtedly making money, lots of it, for it is now a large venture.

The man who built it up puts in all of his time there, but he is no longer the smiling, affable person he was when it was only a small shop. He looks harried and worn—as if he had a hundred things to do at one time, and none of them would wait. Undoubtedly his bank account is healthy and on the up—but if he walked with a jaundiced side he would not look less harassed.

Unless added possessions give up greater freedom and happiness, what is the use of having them? Between a wolf at the door and a ball and chain, there is not a great deal of choice.

'DANCE OF LIFE' TO CLOSE RUN TONIGHT

Today marks the last chance to see "The Dance of Life," which has been showing in the Fox-Broadway theater since Monday. The film closes tonight.

With Hal Skelly and Nancy Carroll, "The Dance of Life" is the cream of the so-called "back stage" revues.

The story concerns a boy and a girl who fight from the bottom to success. They start together when the boy has just been discharged because he thinks more of horses and liquor than his work and the girl is unable to hold a job because she can't dance.

She instills in him a desire to get ahead and he teaches her to dance. They go up the ladder together through many trials and tribulations.

"True Blue Lou," one of the most popular songs of the show, is sung by Skelly, while Miss Carroll also sings a number of songs. The "Polka" sequence, in color, is one of the highspots of the show, while Skelly's dancing also is featured.

Forest Stanley, prominent New York stage star, has the male lead, that of the district attorney, while Robert Frazer, James Crane, Doris Lloyd and Barbara Leonard also have important roles.

"Girls Gone Wild" is a dynamic story of modern youth.

Nature's Medicine for Constipation

The greatest remedy for constipation known to mankind is provided by Nature in the form of herb juices. Plantax, the remarkable liver tonic and internal cleanser, is a special combination of juices or extracts taken from harmless medicinal herbs. Not only does it sweep the bowels free of all accumulated waste matter, but it acts like a charm on the liver, causing that organ to throw off excess bile which pollutes the entire system. The very first dose gives amazing results. You lose that dull, lousy feeling which makes you want to sleep so much. The coating on your tongue disappears. Headaches, sour stomach, indigestion, gas, bilious attacks, dizzy spells, salivary complexion or other symptoms of constipation and torpid liver can no longer exist when your system is thoroughly cleansed of its impurities.

Anyone can take Plantax without injurious effects. It works in a gentle, easy way—while you sleep. Large bottle $1 at all good drug stores.

Imported plant sap found great health food

THESE days, it is a lucky man or woman who enters middle life without worrying about the kidneys. In fact people of every age are being warned of danger by frequent arising at night, backache, high blood pressure and other symptoms.

Here is new hope. Everybody can now have Agmel. A remarkable health discovery—a concentration of the pure natural sap of the maguay plant which keeps the natives of Mexico free from these symptoms. The fresh sap is called "aguamel"—the name is shortened to Agmel. Imported by The Agmel Corporation, New York and Mexico, D. F.

Seven Candidates For Five School Board Positions

NOMINATIONS CLOSE TUESDAY; ELECT ON NOV. 9

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 24.—Donald J. Dodge and Leroy P. Anderson, both of Costa Mesa, two of the leading workers in the harbor high school project since the campaign started three years ago, are among the seven who had up to last night filed nominations for the new school board of five to be elected November 9.

These two nominations were regarded by many as clearing the situation insofar as Costa Mesa representation on the board is concerned. The other five nominees are Dr. G. C. Perry, E. I. Moore, Theo. Robins, Don Douglas and H. O. Ensign. With the harbor bond election out of the way and only a few days left for nominations for the school board, interest is growing in the matter.

Next Tuesday is understood to be the final day for nominations. With seven candidates already out for five positions and others said to be ready to file papers, there is considerable talk on various plans for equitable representation on the board. The Newport Beach district will pay more than two-thirds of the taxes under the present assessments, while Costa Mesa has a slightly larger number of voters and more students. The five members of the board are to be elected from the entire district at large.

One plan is to have two men from each district and a fifth who interests in both. Dr. F. C. Perry, president of the Bank of Balboa, which has a branch at Costa Mesa, lives on Balboa Island and his backers say that he is fitted by his interests in both communities as well as by other qualities to represent the whole district.

Moore is a Newport Beach merchant and president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. Theo. Robins is an automobile agent and president of the Newport Beach Exchange club. H. O. Ensign is principal of the Newport Beach grammar school, but resides in the Costa Mesa school district, while Douglas is a boat manufacturer.

It has been reported that one or more woman candidates would throw their hats into the ring, but it was said today that the most prominently mentioned of these, Mrs. W. W. Brown, had decided not to be a candidate.

One of those to be elected November 9 will retire next May 1, two May 1, 1931, and the other two May 1, 1932. The terms will be decided by lot at the board's first meeting.

Buena Park Club Hears Speech On Value Of Kiwanis

BUENA PARK, Oct. 24.—"The Value of Kiwanis and What It Means to Me" was the subject of a talk delivered by Dan O'Hanlon, of Fullerton, before the Buena Park Kiwanis club in the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday evening.

O'Hanlon has been selected to represent this division in the oratorical contest at the California-Nevada division convention in Long Beach November 6, 7 and 8.

A report of the international convention in Milwaukee in June was given by Henry E. Warren, who has recently returned from a three months' trip to eastern cities. L. D. Jaynes was program chairman for the evening.

AFRICA LIFE TOLD BY BEACH RECTOR

ORANGE, Oct. 24.—The Rev. Francis H. Ball, of Long Beach, was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's club of Trinity Episcopal church last night, when a dinner preceded the meeting in the parish hall.

The Rev. Mr. Ball will leave Long Beach in two weeks to become rector of Trinity church in Portland, Ore., he announced. In his talk he told something of the colorful career which had been his from the time he had been an honorary chieftain in a tribe of natives of Basuto, South Africa, when seven years old. The speaker said that in turn he had studied medicine, been a soldier in two wars, had acted as an expert accountant and that five years ago he had become the rector of an Episcopal church.

The practices of the medicine men of the African tribe where his father was a missionary were told by the rector. Most of the treatments given the sick resulted in their deaths, he said. No blind, lame or deformed persons were allowed in the tribe, which numbered about 5000.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Oct. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore, accompanied by Mr. Moore's father, Ed. Moore, left Wednesday morning on a motor trip north. They expect to go with in 70 miles of Portland, and they have set no definite time for their return. Mrs. C. E. Pratt is caring for the home during Mrs. Moore's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr and Mrs. Parr's father, Mr. Abbott, motored to Corona to see their sister and daughter, Mrs. Georgia Green, who is recovering from a lingering illness.

Charles Parr Jr. spent the week end at Huntington Park as the guest of his cousin, Bernard Wilson and with him attended the U. S. C. Occidental foot ball game at the coliseum.

Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips visited Monday in Belleflower with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wattell, and also with Mrs. Phillips' father, John Franz, who suffered his second stroke of paralysis recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell and sons and Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw attended a family reunion at the home of Mrs. E. S. Hell, mother of Mrs. Holsclaw and Mr. Hell in celebration of her birthday anniversary last Monday.

George Applebury is leaving within a few days for the east, where he will join Mrs. Applebury at the former home in Missouri. They will visit relatives there and in other states before their return.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley and daughter, Yvonne, and Mr. Stanley's mother, were visitors recently for the day in the home of Mrs. Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana.

Mrs. Jake Grana motored to South Gate to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Church who then accompanied her to Long Beach, where they surprised Mrs. George Benson, daughter of Mrs. Grana, and sister of Mrs. Church, on the event of her birthday anniversary.

ORANGE SHOW OFFICIALS AT CLUB SESSION

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 24.—From now on the Newport Beach Exchange club's chairman may be able to keep better order at meetings, for the club today is "sporting" a beautiful gavel and gong, presented yesterday by officials of the National Orange show, in appreciation of the attendance record made by the local club at the last orange show at San Bernardino.

The presentation was made at the club's regular weekly session at the Legion hut by Louis Wolff, first vice president of the Orange show this year, with a dozen members of the San Bernardino Exchange club also present, including President C. L. Gassaway and Fred Duffy, third vice president of the state organization.

Wolff and E. M. Gore, publicity man for the Orange show, took occasion to state that the next show will be February 13 to 23. The Newport Beach Exchange club had the largest attendance on Exchange club day last February and won a cup besides the gong and gavel presented yesterday.

Local moving pictures were shown at yesterday's meeting by H. L. Sherman, a member of the club, who leaves next week on a five months' visit to the South seas, and some also by Duke Gardiner, of Balboa, who took them on a round-the-world trip three years ago.

Talks were made by Duffy, Gassaway and W. F. Boland of the San Bernardino club, and by Gene Penelon of the beach club. A baseball challenge from the Costa Mesa Lions was referred for action to Charles Way. Harry D. Hyde was introduced as a new member, and other guests included Carl Roy, Walter Nelson, L. A. Desmond, Roy G. Christensen, Dr. M. Clough, Harry Joyce, C. A. Lee, G. W. Holbrook, Douglas M. Shaw and J. S. Russell, of San Bernardino; Henry S. Williams and Milo L. Berenssen, of Santa Ana; Dr. B. R. Eastman, of Pasadena; F. K. Eckley, Bob Sheridan and Dr. Hermann Hilmer, of Balboa, and George Robins, of Temple, father of President Theo. Robins of the local club.

Readings Planned In Orange Church

ORANGE, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Nick Campbell, of Wichita, Kan., will be presented in a program of dramatic readings at the First Methodist church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The affair will be sponsored by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

Mrs. Campbell will give a number of impersonations. A silver offering will be taken.

GREAT FUTURE PREDICTED FOR AVIATION INDUSTRY BY FULLERTON SCHOOL SPEAKER

FULLERTON, Oct. 24.—W. R. Balsom, manager of the speakers' bureau of Western Air Express, was the main speaker at an assembly of the Fullerton union high school yesterday afternoon.

Balsom declared that thousands of alert, scientifically trained minds are needed in the aviation industry. He predicted a remarkable growth of aviation in the next 10 years and said that judging from the growth of the industry in the last five years, aviation should equal if not surpass the railroad industry.

"Until five years ago, all the air transport companies in the United States could be counted on one hand," he said. "Take Western Air Express for example. Three years ago last April we started the first line to Salt Lake City. Today we have six lines operating out of Los Angeles, covering 12 states.

"New air transport companies are springing up every day in all parts of the country. The aviation industry in the United States today represents an investment of more than a billion dollars. What will it be tomorrow?"

The speaker stated that although most young men regarded the mechanical department of aviation as the only occupation, there were hundreds of jobs in the operating and traffic department.

He said that expert men would be needed to train the young people to start training now for the industry. He said that schools in every state in the union would offer courses in aeronautics inside of two years. Even now there are 35 colleges which have founded aviation schools, he said.

PERSIMMONS BEING PICKED AT IRVINE

IRVINE, Oct. 24.—Persimmon picking has started on the Walker-McFadden lease on Jeffrey road. The fruit is of the Hachiya variety and of unusually fine quality. The lease is of 160 acres, set to valencia oranges set 30 feet apart and interest with the persimmons.

According to Harry Wright, manager of the place, there is a crew of 40 men employed picking from 25 to 30 tons a day, hauling part of the crop to the lemon house near the San Joaquin Fruit company ranch and part to the Tustin packing house.

Every packed box contains recipes and new ideas to those unfamiliar with the many different and unusual ways this fruit may be served.

120 Expected For Firemen's Session In Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 24.—About 120 men and women, members of the Orange County Firemen's association and the auxiliary organization of women, are expected tonight at the meeting to be held at the Community club, when the visitors will be guests of the local fire fighters.

Mrs. Nellie Schwankovsky will give piano selections and Robert N. Bowen will sing several songs. The address of welcome will be made by A. B. Marshall, president of the Realty board. Members of the city council have promised to be present.

Supper will be served to the visitors by the local branch of the auxiliary.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds, its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 40 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chase, H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1876.—Adv.

IMPROVEMENTS SCHEDULED FOR 2 STRUCTURES

FULLERTON, Oct. 24.—Increase in building activity was announced here today with plans for the improvement of the J. R. Gardiner building at 118-20 West Commonwealth avenue, now owned by H. A. Krause and Lloyd Hulbert.

Improvement of the adjoining building at 116 West Commonwealth avenue, owned by H. H. Head, of Santa Ana, will begin at once, it was announced. Both buildings will be improved at the same time and with similar design, giving the effect of one building.

The improvements contemplated by Krause and Hulbert will involve an expenditure of approximately $5000 while the improvement planned by Head will amount to approximately $2000, it was announced.

Other building activity planned includes two new units for a bungalow court at 520 and 524 East Commonwealth avenue by L. L. Humphrey, who has already taken out permits for the new units. They will cost approximately $4000 and will be built by the owner.

FISHERMEN'S CLUB PLANS YEAR'S WORK

PLACENTIA, Oct. 24.—The first meeting of the year of the Senior Fishermen's club of Calvary church was held Tuesday evening, Cleo Hamner presiding. Eleven boys were present and plans for the year's work were discussed.

All were urged to attend the high school prayer meetings which are held at 11:30 o'clock Monday and Wednesday, John Adams presiding, and 12:15 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday, with Glenn Newman as leader.

After the short business meeting, Don Milligan gave a message on "Three Requisites for a Successful Club Year."

The next meeting will be Tuesday at 8:30 o'clock, when dinner will be served by Mrs. W. B. Howard. These dinners will be a regular feature of the meetings. Young men from 16 to 30 years are eligible to join.

200 NEW MEMBERS FOR SCHOOL P.-T.A.

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 24.—The Garden Grove grammar school P.-T. A. membership drive came to a close this week with a total of 200 new members for this year. Mrs. J. O. Arkley, chairman of the membership committee, reported today.

The pupils in Mrs. Evans' fifth grade at the Lincoln school and Miss Lucille Allen's fifth grade at the Washington school secured the most members. The two classes will be awarded prizes.

Plan Family Day In Garden Grove Church On Oct. 27

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 24.—The Rev. Floyd J. Seaman, of the Garden Grove M. E. church, announces that Sunday will be Family day.

All members are asked to be present and sitting together as families. Recognition will be given to those families making the best showing. The pastor has chosen for his sermon theme a story of early Palestine. His evening address will be on the subject, "Holding the Citadel of Life."

LAGUNA WOMEN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 24.—Four delegates and four alternates have been selected by the Woman's club of this city to attend the semi-annual county convention of Federated Women's clubs in Anaheim Friday. The delegates are Mrs. J. P. Elliott, Mrs. Ralph Bell, Mrs. Lynn Shrewsbury and Mrs. Roy M. Ropp. Alternates are Mrs. W. G. Schmelzel, Mrs. George Dunham, Mrs. Fred D. Petties and Mrs. Carl Hansen.

County officers of the federation from this city who will be present are Mrs. Marie Thurston, president; Miss Mary K. Wing, corresponding secretary; Miss Lolita Perine, chairman of art; Mrs. Frank B. Champion, chairman of club emblems. Mrs. James R. Randall, recently appointed an officer, and Mrs. Thomas A. Cummings, president of the local Woman's club, will also attend.

School Attendance In Garden Grove Showing Increase

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 24.—The attendance at the night school, which is being conducted at the Garden Grove high school, has increased in attendance to an enrollment of 75 persons. Five different subjects are being taught.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed! External treatments seldom banish Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it. J. S. Leonard, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Schramm-Johnson Drug's, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—Adv.

August Hedstrom Services Friday

ANAHEIM, Oct. 24.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel for August Hedstrom, 75, who passed away yesterday morning at the home of his brother, Gus Hedstrom, on Garden Grove road. Mr. Hedstrom had been a resident of this vicinity for the past 23 years and was a native of Sweden. Beside his brother, Gus, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Hedda Thyllin, who lives in Sweden. Interment will be made in the Loma Vista cemetery, Fullerton.

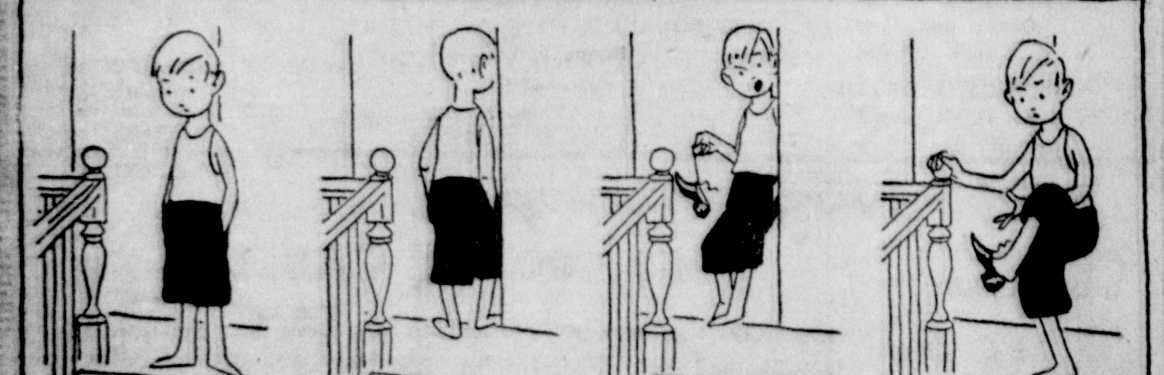

PLAN PAPER DRIVE

ORANGE, Oct. 24.—Girl Reserves of the Orange union high school will conduct a paper drive November 2 and members of the sophomore and senior classes will conduct a similar drive November 16.

Have You An Acid Stomach?

When gas, pain and distress follow a good meal, it is an almost sure sign of "too much acid" in your stomach. Get rid of it now for it is dangerous. Ulcers are apt to follow. No matter how much acid is in your stomach, you can enjoy and relish your meal without fear of after effects, if you have some Bisurated Magnesia handy to prevent the trouble before it starts. Try it. Eat whatever you like, in reason, and then take a little Bisurated Magnesia to neutralize the acid, sweeten your stomach and protect the stomach lining. Doctors recommend Bisurated Magnesia—thousands use it because it positively prevents stomach trouble or stops the worst attack in less than five minutes. Get a trial package, either powder or tablets, from your druggist, use as directed, and indigestion and stomach troubles will go like magic.—Adv.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds, its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 40 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chase, H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1876.—Adv.

$10,000 IN CASH PRIZES

Offered in the Santa Ana Register's Circulation Prize Campaign

YOU COLLECT NO MONEY!

YOU SOLICIT NO MONEY!

HOW PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

After the close of the campaign, December 18th, 1929, and the work of verifying subscriptions has been completed, the official judges will audit, tabulate and count all votes placed to the credit of all contestants, and will award the prizes as follows:

To the contestant having the highest total of votes, $2000.00 will be awarded; to the second highest, $1500.00 will be awarded; to the third highest, $1200.00; to the fourth highest, $1000.00; to the fifth highest, $500. These five grand awards will be allotted without regard to the district from which the contestants are entered, but naturally the recipients of these five grand awards are barred from consideration for the district awards, as set forth below:

To the contestant highest in vote standing in each of the five districts (after the grand awards have been eliminated from further consideration) will be awarded $200.00 in cash; to the second highest, $100.00 in cash. This makes two awards of each amount, or ten district awards in all.

To all contestants who do not win one of the grand or district awards, 10 per cent cash commission, based on the regular subscription price of The Santa Ana Register, will be paid on all NEW and RENEWAL subscription contracts turned in by the non-prize winners.

During the last week of the campaign a locked and sealed ballot box will be used for contestants to deposit their subscriptions. A firm of public accountants and a committee of judges will have charge of checking and auditing the returns of the campaign and awarding the prizes. This assures absolute fairness to all.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Any man or woman over 16 years of age (or younger if approved by parents and The Santa Ana Register) excepting employees, members of employees' immediate family, carriers or agents of The Santa Ana Register, may become a contestant in the campaign. No contestant will be permitted to transfer votes to another after having received them. Subscriptions cannot be transferred. No bulk subscriptions will be accepted. All subscriptions will be received subject to the verification and acceptance of The Santa Ana Daily Register. Questions or controversies arising are to be settled by the campaign manager.

The Santa Ana Register reserves the right to reject objectionable nominations.

No subscriptions for a period of less than three months or over twelve months will be accepted.

A new subscriber is one who was not taking The Santa Ana Daily Register either by mail or carrier October 15th, 1929. Contestants who turn in old subscriptions marked new will forfeit votes received on such subscriptions. Changing the name of an old subscriber from one member of the family or household to another does not constitute a new subscription.

Awards are to be given to the winning contestants as soon as the official judges announce the results of the count of the votes. In the case of a tie for any of the prizes, the tying contestants will receive duplicate awards.

The campaign closes at 9 P. M. Wednesday, December 18th, 1929.

No agreements or promises either written or verbal made by solicitors or contestants other than those published by The Santa Ana Register will be recognized. In accepting entrance into the campaign all contestants agree to abide by the conditions named.

The Santa Ana Daily Register reserves the right to place additional prizes on the list and to correct any typographical errors that may occur in any of its announcements.

Votes are secured by obtaining contract subscriptions to The Santa Ana Daily Register, according to the vote schedule published herewith, and by the Entry Blank and the First Subscription coupon.

VOTE VALUE OF SUBSCRIPTIONS

YOU SOLICIT NO MONEY

—Just Take Orders

Below are the number of votes given for New and Renewal (old) subscriptions secured to The Santa Ana Daily Register. You do NOT collect or solicit any money, simply get the subscriber to sign a contract to take The Register for a specified length of time and the carrier or agent will collect each month for the paper:

	—VOTES—
	NEW Subscriptions	RENEWAL Subscriptions
3 Months Contract	5,000	2,500
6 Months Contract	15,000	7,500
12 Months Contract	40,000	20,000

Mail subscriptions to comply with the postal regulations must be paid in advance. The first period of the campaign will close November 13th, and during this period every ten NEW three-months' subscriptions, or the equivalent, will earn 100,000 extra votes; during the second period, which opens November 14th and closes November 27th, every ten NEW three months' subscriptions or the equivalent will earn 90,000 extra votes; during the third period, which opens November 28th and closes December 11th, every ten NEW three-months' subscriptions, or the equivalent, will earn 80,000 extra votes. From December 12th until the close of the campaign, December 18th, every ten NEW three-months' subscriptions, or the equivalent, will earn 70,000 extra votes. Old (renewal) subscriptions will earn one-half the number of extra votes as new subscriptions during the above specified periods.

THE TINYMITES
STORY & MAL COCHRAN — PICTURES & KNICK
WILLIAM S. BENTLEY

The scarecrow, tied fast to the tree, looked just as funny as could be. He tried real hard to wiggle loose, but it was all in vain. He didn't like his prison place and so a frown spread on his face. At first the Tynites thought it was because he was in pain.

Then Scouty laughed and said, "Don't fret. We haven't hurt the scarecrow yet. He's merely made of straw and hay and cannot feel a thing. What shall we do to make him sad or sorry that he's acted bad? It's our turn now to pay him back, 'cause he has had his flimsy flimsy flimsy."

He made one Weeonee lose his breath and scared the rest of us to death. I think he's just a mean old man who teases tots for fun. Let's build a fire beneath his feet. I guess he'll find that's not so sweet. If he keeps acting funny we will cook him till he's done."

The scarecrow yelled with all his might. "The fire will burn me out of sight. Please let me go. I'll promise that I'll never again be bad. Right now you've scared me quite enough. To build a fire would be too rough. Please let me go. It seems that plenty punishment I've had."

Just then a voice rang clear and loud and frightened all the Tyny crowd. "Hey, there," the voice said. "What's up now? I'm coming to find out!" My goodness what an awful plight. A farmer dashed right into sight. The Tynimates and Weeones scattered, promptly, all about.

The scarecrow cried, "Hurray for me. Come, farmer, man, and set me free!" The farmer did and he said, "I'll fix this little bunch. They tied my scarecrow to a tree. 'Twas just to play a trick on me. They may have thought it funny, but 'twas quite a nervy bunch."

GEORGE GEORGE CONTRIBUTING CASE IS BEING HEARD BY JURY

Mike George, of Placentia, was back in court today as plaintiff in a $10,000 damage suit against John G. Ames for alleged assault and threats to kill him George, who failed to collect in a couple of other lawsuits against Joe Simon, Placentia, but who finally got a judgment against his attorneys for alleged negligence in prosecuting his case, claimed today that Ames, Simon and others chased him out of a Placentia pool hall, causing him to fear for his life.

Figuratively, the chase was reenacted today in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court was Defense Attorney T. L. McFadden, pursuing George out of the pool room and through alleys and cross streets, endeavoring to pick up evidence along the route in favor of his client. Several times, when he pursued became hot and both the witness and attorney were getting into close quarters, George complained that McFadden was going too fast for him. By the time McFadden was proceeding with his cross-examination, both he and George were out of breath.

Attorney Too Fast

Being an Assyrian, George found it difficult to maintain McFadden's rapid fire pace, but the attorney always obligingly backed up an alley or side street and gave George another start.

At the outset of the chase, McFadden barely missed a tackle when he caught George off his guard. The witness had testified that one of his associates had come to the front of the pool room, where George was playing, and had called to him to come out, addressing him with a vile epithet.

"And you knew right away that you were the one he meant, did you?" demanded the attorney. Mike George braced himself and for a moment the words couldn't come fast enough. Finally he replied, "No, he said, 'Mike, you son-of-a-bitch, come out!'" The emphasis was on the Mike.

George testified that he ran out the back of the pool room, jumped a couple of fences, sped down an alley to a street and wended his way to another pool room.

"How did you know they were following you, did you look back?" asked McFadden.

"Running for my life" was running for my life," said George on one occasion. "And on another, he said, 'How could I look back, when he was so close to me.'"

After McFadden thought he had about succeeded in reviewing the chase, George pulled a surprise

Dr. Harvey Franklin, rabbi of the Temple Israel, in Long Beach, addressed the Mothers' club of the First Congregational church at a meeting in the church bungalow yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Adolph Granas introduced the speaker, and Mrs. Elsie Sprunson, vice president of the club, led the devotion. Mrs. L. W. McFarland presided.

The rabbi defined religion and education and explained the necessary training of the child by the co-ordination of religion and the public school system.

"He who reads the Bible must teach the child a trade," declared Rabbi Franklin, as he told his 10 objectives of religion. He stressed the fact that there seems to be a great lack of responsibility in this country and urged that the religious school give children things to do, because he claimed that responsibility is character building.

Musical numbers on the program were a piano duet by Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. G. Dean Wallace. Miss Beatrice Granas played as violin solos two études from Chopin.

GARDEN GROVE, Calif., Oct. 24, 1929.

To My Friends, Acquaintances and the Public:

Since I appeared as a witness in the Pantanes case, it has come to my knowledge that some of my friends and acquaintances have stated that they didn't see why I had to get mixed up in the case. I am sure that they are laboring under the impression that I intruded myself in a way that led to my being subpoenaed as a witness.

That fact is, that a few days after the formal charge had been filed against Mr. Pantanes, a coffee salesman named George Pantanes, called upon me in the course of business and asked me to act as a witness for him in conversation, he happened to ask me if I knew the man who was called "Pantanes" and I said, "Yes, he lives next door to me." He then asked me to go with him to the court and I said, "No, but that I had seen some man at the Pringle home some frequently, whose name I did not know." I did not know at the time that George, the salesman, knew Pantanes or was in any way interested in the case. However, shortly after that George called me by phone and said that Pantanes wanted to see me. I asked him if he had told Pantanes about my conversation with him, and he said that he had, to which action on his part I took exception, and told him that I refused to see Mr. Pantanes. Thereafter he called me up several times, trying to persuade me to have an interview with Mr. Pantanes, and I finally decided that perhaps it would be better to see Mr. Pantanes, and I finally decided that I would not see him. I told Mr. Pantanes that I would not see him, and he said that I would not see him. I told Mr. Pantanes that I would not see him, and he said that I would not see him. I told Mr. Pantanes that I would not see him, and he said that I would not see him.

when he said that when he went out the back of the pool room, Nora went out the front. The next time the witness saw Nora was after he left the alley and started up the street, when he saw his alleged pursuer and others on a corner as he went by. He was unable to say, he said, how long they had been there. But he was certain that he had been chased.

The executive club, which is composed of class presidents and representatives from the various home sections, is planning to do big things for Lathrop. The club members are very proud to have as a leader Miss Henderson who has a great deal of experience in student body affairs at Lathrop.

Miss Foster's Low 7 Home Making class is very busy designing a home including a home plan and the interior of each room. The Low 7 sewing class is making towels for the girls' cooking classes. Some towels are hemmed and are ready to be stamped for embroidery.

Ninth grade cooking classes are in the midst of baking quick breads. They have made plain muffins and have varied the recipe to make other kinds of muffins and fruit cobbles.

At present they are working with biscuit dough, making plain biscuits and all kinds of good things. The girls have learned all about batters and doughs, how to mix and bake them, what makes them rise, how to change recipes and how to test and regulate oven temperatures using both electric and gas ovens.

One section of the ninth grade foods class has been carrying on a dish washing contest at home. The girls decided upon a score card to follow, grading themselves each day under the supervision of their mothers or some older person in the home. Virginia Means, Donna Endres and Ruth Dohmer have the highest number of points so far. Probably mothers will wish to give Mrs. Sinks a vote of thanks for this novel way of enlivening the dish washing task.

The "Lathrop Chicks" boys' cooking club of Lathrop, held their weekly meeting in the cooking room and after a short business meeting made some delicious cup cakes. The boys are developing into very fine cooks and are extremely interested in the work. Lathrop has had a boys' cooking class for several years and each semester a large number of boys enroll for the course. Last year the faculty of Lathrop had practical demonstrations of their ability to cook at several teachers' luncheons which the boys cooked and served under the direction of Mrs. Sinks, who originated the idea of such a club. The boys, in their caps and white aprons, marched around the tables before the luncheons and then served with such speed and dexterity that they received loud applause from the faculty members.

School News

Julia Lathrop

As delegates to the district Junior Red Cross conference, three Lathrop students, Johnnie Griset, Gordon Beisel and George Holmes, enjoyed a day in Los Angeles recently at Patriotic hall. Miss Hazel Bemis and Miss Pearl Nicholson drove the delegates to the city where they went first to the city hall where the boys had the experience of meeting the Lord Mayor of Berlin and of securing his autograph and also that of Mayor Porter of Los Angeles. Then followed a brief tour of the city hall with a trip to the tower, from which a wonderful view of Los Angeles and the surrounding country could be seen. A Chinese dinner in a Chinatown restaurant preceded the conference which was held in Patriotic hall.

Gordon Beisel represented Santa Ana, giving a very able account of activities in the Junior Red Cross. Topics discussed at the meeting were: The advantages of high school council; how to go about organizing; how to advertise the Red Cross; how to divide the grade councils; swimming banners; Crosby state banner; national children's fund and others. Mr. Filser, vice chairman of the national Red Cross, gave an interesting talk.

We are very proud of our Lathrop representatives and of their part in this national work. Miss Bemis has contributed addresses and made it possible for Lathrop to exchange scrapbooks and work with children of other countries. These projects were worked out in the geography classes under Miss Nicholson's supervision. Most interesting exhibits have come to us from countries across the sea, enlarging and stimulating our somewhat limited understanding of these countries and their work.

Miss Tummond, of the Lathrop art department, has brought an interesting specimen of ancient hand work for her classes' inspection. This is a Turkish towel which looks more like a beautiful scarf than a towel. The material is frail and the metal trimming gives great weight to the towel which is about 500 years old. It was brought directly from Turkey. Miss Tummond tells us she explained that the towel was used by the members of the upper class around the necks of the guests at banquets. It was passed around with the finger bowl which was shaped somewhat like a bowl and somewhat like a pitcher.

Ninth grade boys' and girls' Glee clubs at Lathrop are starting work on the opera which they have chosen for this year's presentation. "The Mysterious Master" by Clark and Carrington, composers of "Bibi O'Blarney" and "Windmills of Holland," is to be the vehicle for our musicians this year. The story itself is very interesting and contains a good deal of comedy. Lathrop students are eagerly looking forward to hearing another of the glee club's performances.

This week the two clubs are making a study of the solos in the opera. They expect to lead heads before the end of the week.

Tennis is occupying a popular place in sports at Lathrop. Not only are the students very active along this line, but the teachers are also playing each other and the students for practice.

Miss Reid's Low 9 boys held a tennis tournament last week. Winner of the singles was Pat Jordan and of the doubles, Pat Jordan and Coy Maret. The girls plan to play soon and their champions will challenge the boys.

The executive club, which is composed of class presidents and representatives from the various home sections, is planning to do big things for Lathrop. The club members are very proud to have as a leader Miss Henderson who has a great deal of experience in student body affairs at Lathrop.

Miss Foster's Low 7 Home Making class is very busy designing a home including a home plan and the interior of each room. The Low 7 sewing class is making towels for the girls' cooking classes. Some towels are hemmed and are ready to be stamped for embroidery.

Ninth grade cooking classes are in the midst of baking quick breads. They have made plain muffins and have varied the recipe to make other kinds of muffins and fruit cobbles.

At present they are working with biscuit dough, making plain biscuits and all kinds of good things. The girls have learned all about batters and doughs, how to mix and bake them, what makes them rise, how to change recipes and how to test and regulate oven temperatures using both electric and gas ovens.

One section of the ninth grade foods class has been carrying on a dish washing contest at home. The girls decided upon a score card to follow, grading themselves each day under the supervision of their mothers or some older person in the home. Virginia Means, Donna Endres and Ruth Dohmer have the highest number of points so far. Probably mothers will wish to give Mrs. Sinks a vote of thanks for this novel way of enlivening the dish washing task.

Police News

Seeking to foreclose a mortgage on property in Orange, the Orange Savings bank today brought suit against F. V. Reeves, Flora M. Reeves and Frank P. Byrne. The mortgage was given as security for a $200 promissory note, which is due and unpaid, according to the complaint.

A. H. Yost today brought suit against W. L. Lowe, seeking judgment for $574.78, with interest at seven per cent from Oct. 24, 1924, amounting to $231.35. According to the complaint, the National bank of Fullerton recovered the judgment in a case against Lowe and Yost and later the bank assigned the judgment to Yost. It has not been paid, according to the complaint.

Seeking judgment for $1550, Ray O'Brien today brought suit against J. W. Breddove, claiming that the sum mentioned is due him for services performed in securing a contract for Breddove. The complaint stated that O'Brien, under terms of an agreement with Breddove, secured a contract for him whereby he moved 32,000 cubic yards of earth in a grading job at Hollywood Knolls and that O'Brien received five cents per cubic yard moved for securing the contract. The complaint alleged that he had received only $50.

Four persons were fined in Judge J. F. Talbot's police court yesterday on charges of speeding and one of the four had his operator's license suspended for a period of 30 days. He was Joe Quintana, of Glorietta, who also was fined $25. The others were Gene Coffett, Balboa, $15; Marvin Benson, $25; Ernest M. Gommel, $10.

Charged with overtime parking, H. Humphrey, Emma J. Truchoud and George M. Wright were given $2 fines in police court yesterday.

LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Armstrong have returned to their home at 430 Myrtle street after a four months' visit with friends and relatives at Minneapolis and Duluth.

Clarence Thomas, of Hollywood, visited here on McCullough Sunday, coming to get Roger Quayle Denny, who has been visiting here the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Jahraus, who left about three weeks ago to go to Idaho, have returned to their home in this city.

Irven Couss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed S. Couss, has returned from a visit of several weeks with his uncle in Walsenburg, Colo. It was the first time that he had been in that state since a small child.

L. W. Giddings and son, Warren, were at their home on Magnolia street early in the week. Mrs. Giddings remained in Pasadena and Jean was with friends in Balboa. Mr. Giddings was at Catalina for 10 days.

Miss Sarah Van Pelt, who lives on Magnolia street at Cypress drive, is expected home this week after several weeks spent at Fullerton with relatives.

Art Stromerson, former traffic officer of this city, who was injured about two months ago when his motorcycle skidded on Coast boulevard, was a visitor in this city early this week. He has been in Los Angeles for several weeks, since being released from the local hospital. A scar shows where his head was injured. He is almost completely recovered.

Mrs. A. B. Marshall expects to attend the conference called by Mrs. James K. Lytle November 5 at the Baptist church in Santa Ana. Mrs. Lytle heads the Parent-Teacher association of the state and Mrs. Marshall is head of the art department, as well as being president of the local P. T. U.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Curtis and Frank True, all residents of this city living on Magnolia street, have returned from the Cunius property in Spring valley, San Diego county. Mr. True did some carpenter work for the Cunius family.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(UP)—First billion dollars in market values were swept away today in the greatest selling wave in the history of the New York stock exchange. Then some of the nation's most powerful bankers gave support which stopped the break.

It was the greatest day in the history of the market; more than 11,000,000 shares had been exchanged in almost three hours behind actual sales near the closing hour of 3 P. M.

The break was sudden. There had been only a momentary recovery in the average. Then the avalanche came. Frenzied traders fought on the floor to sell their stocks, and bear available funds. The papers to pay little heed to how low that figure might be. Their shouts could be heard outside the hall. It was almost a pandemonium. Rumors of the exchange closing, of other exchanges closing, of financial disasters and of many things of similar nature were frequent.

In report from the treasury department that the market's recent losses were not due to unsound business conditions, but to a momentary effect; then the market again plunged down and down, until the losses were $1,000,000,000. The loss of $1,000,000,000 for the latest slump period.

United States Steel went to 195. Others of the recent leaders similarly were carried down at 10,000 and 20,000 blocks a sale. Four and five hundred shares of leading stocks were traded during that period.

Dr. Raiche recalled that Glenn Curtis gained distinction in the United States as the first man to develop a plane that would fly because of the fact that Orville and Wilbur Wright had to go to France to get financial backing for promotion of their flights.

"A speed of 25 miles an hour was all that the early day ships could attain and flying at that speed is more difficult than flying at 80 to 100 miles an hour," commented the speaker.

BARE LAND

There's very little bare land left unplanted that's good for citrus in Orange County. We've just listed a piece that can be purchased in parcels of 10 to 50 acres at $1,000 per acre. It's the good old sandy loam soil, level and flat, easily worked. Water can be had at very reasonable rates. You still have time to get a few acres at this very reasonable price. $919.

EVENING SALUTATION
"Life is the acceptance of responsibilities or their evasion; it is a business of meeting obligations or avoiding them."
—Ben Ames Williams.

A TAIN ON ATHLETICS

The revelations of the Carnegie Foundation in their national survey of college athletics, and particularly football, as published today will be a shock to the nation. There are very few students, and we would almost venture to say, there is no alumnus of any of our institutions, but whose heart beats with a little quicker impulse, and his whole being is in a slightly greater state of trepidation as the football season approaches. If it is possible, every game with rival colleges is witnessed, and if not, with anxious ear the loyal son is listening for the score at each moment of the game.

Football is the great sport of the colleges in America. Baseball is the great sport of the people generally, as contested by various cities with professional players. The basic idea of competition in any line with rival institutions of learning is that the students of the one will excel in their particular line over the students of the other.

The ideal is that these students are the ones that will naturally come to this institution of learning,—that they come as a result of the inducements that institution offers as an institution of learning from an educational standpoint, from the point of view of tradition; from the standpoint of its ideals; and from the standpoint of its alumni's activities in the world; together with the proximity to home and the ability to pay the expenses. With the conditions set in this manner ideally, the rivalry in debate, oratorical contests or on the athletic field partake of the finest spirit of the institutions which are joined.

When, however, all of this is actually prostituted by the institutions, and special inducements offered men who are particularly proficient or talented in the line in which the test is to be made, for them to come to their institution, it destroys the very character and purpose of the contest itself. The player, in such a case, comes to the institution not because of its traditions; not because of the genius of its faculty; not because he may be better prepared for life; but because in the last analysis he receives in some form or other the almighty dollar for his services. In other words, he comes for money and the whole spirit of fine sportsmanship is destroyed.

Whatever institution is guilty of this practice and just in proportion as it is guilty of the practice, it is aiding to destroy the spirit of real sportsmanship. We believe this sentiment will be the sentiment of a large percentage of alumni and former students of all the colleges. How has this gravitated to such a point as to cause so great a proportion of our institutions of higher learning to be guilty of this offense? Is it not due to the fact that there is money in it?

They have found that the games attract thousands of people, who are willing to pay enormous sums, and hence they have money in great quantities to use for various purposes, and with the vast amounts involved, more money is easily obtained from enthusiastic alumni.

Take the game on Saturday. Nearly 100,000 people will see Stanford and University of Southern California play their annual game of football. Admission will be all the way from $1.00 to $3.00, with possibly the average of $2.50 per head for 88,000 people, and you have the enormous sum spent on gate receipts alone of nearly a quarter of million dollars. Besides that, other and many thousands of dollars will be spent in paying transportation and expenses en route, saying nothing about the time which in thousands of cases means two days out of the week.

We are not finding any fault with the time and with the interest shown, but if the general admission to the game was one-third the amount it is, it would almost insure that the spirit of the sport would be more in harmony with the original purpose of intercollegiate games.

It is unfortunate that as soon as "profit" touches any activity it tends to lower its character. A tremendous fight has to be made against such tendency to keep it clean. There is nothing wrong about money nor the obtaining of money, it is the love of it that is the root of the evil, but that love in the average individual is so great that it tends to pollute as soon as there is a large margin between the expenses of the enterprise and the income.

We hope that the colleges which we all love, and as we read the list, we found that very few of our American institutions are free from the taint; will have sufficient virile and moral force within them to make a thorough housecleaning on this particular thing. If this be done, the great game of football which is the one sport that challenges the thought, the admiration and the loyal support of all college men, will be as close to fulfilling its ideals as baseball is in its own particular field.

A FEARLESS JUDGE

It is refreshing to have a judge like Charles Fricke on the bench in the Pantages case. Fearless of course, and able to at once see the trend of questioning, Judge Fricke applies the law with absolute disregard of personalities.

This is harder than it may seem to a layman. Here is a very rich man on trial for a most serious offense. Here are lawyers on both sides, all friends of long standing of Judge Fricke, and here is also the complaining witness, of humble circumstances, without rich or powerful friends. A judge who can hold the scale of justice even in all his decisions, and apply the laws of evidence without fear or favor under what must be most trying circumstances is worthy of commendation.

When we remember that for many years Judge Fricke was a prosecutor both in New York and Los Angeles, we might expect that such training and experience might prejudice him in favor of the prosecution in the present case. But so far, no deviation from the strict and impartial application of the law is to be seen.

If the defendant in this case is proven guilty, his great wealth will not save him from the penalty with a fearless, able judge presiding at the trial.

LIVING UP TO NAME

A group of "sky pilots" in Germany are really going to live up to their name. Father Paul Schulte of the Oblate Brotherhood of Cologne, Germany, arrived in this country the other day and made public his plans for a missionary air venture into an almost inaccessible region of Southwestern Africa. Colonel James Fitzmaurice and Captain Herman Koehl trans-Atlantic fliers will participate in the expedition which will be to the pagans of Ovamboland in Southwestern Africa. The section is one of the least known places. Father Schulte was a German air pilot in the World war. He made a promise in his student days to Father Otto Fuhrman, a veteran missionary, that some day he would take up the work in Africa.

The Oblate Fathers in Cologne have been using six planes for long-visitations in the German Republic so that they are familiar with their use in church work. Ovamboland is almost inaccessible overland because of the rough country surrounding it but in the interior of the land where the forestation is less dense scattered clearings will provide landing places for the missionary landings, says Father Schulte.

One can easily imagine that conversions would be at least half accomplished when a group of pagans who had never seen an aeroplane, saw one descend toward them and a being emerge from it who was very different from themselves. Since so many good things come from the sky, sunshine and rain and the beauty of the night, they would not take the "sky pilots" to be evil geniuses.

One good way to escape doing a few of the things that are expected of you is to have a "career."

REMOVING RACIAL DIFFERENCES

We note by today's dispatches that a Japanese biologist declares that he can change racial characteristics through proper gland feeding. Now wouldn't that be fine? In a few years racial lines may be wiped out entirely. We will have no rivalries.

All we have to do is to agree upon whether we will be white, yellow, black or red, and is anything easier than to get the people of the world to agree on that? Nearly every one of the races believes that it is superior to the other, and each is proud of his race, or at least there are millions who belong to it who are proud of it. In the interest of unity and the advancement of culture, we ought to have a plebiscite and agree as to what we would be, and then turn it over to this doctor and tell him to do his worst.

The Transcontinental Diet

Christian Science Monitor

Crackers are said to be coming into more extensive use for educational purposes. The animal and alphabet crackers are to be supplemented by the geometric and geographic crackers. Believing that there is nothing more potent than an attractive cracker to bestir within the average child a desire for knowledge, the manufacturers have gone a step farther and formed each cracker into knowledge itself. The result is a visual and tasteful education—in fact, a crackerjack education.

Though the cracker method of teaching is primarily intended for the very young, it has its attractions for grown-ups who have been known to dip with too ready a hand into Willie's "ark" for a couple of elephants. The food formation idea in education has not been entirely confined to the cracker. Alphabetical soup, containing a macaroni product, is a variation which affords the student an opportunity to learn to spell while eating. And then, too, there is the value of digesting each lesson.

But to get back to the latest developments in cracker education. The curriculum has been extended to include geometry and geography. The course in the former finds the crackers in the shape of parallelograms, hexagons, rhomboids and other interesting geometric figures, while in the latter they are made to represent the states of the Union. It is said of them that bright students not only are able to identify them by their shapes, but also to assemble them into the complete United States and win the privilege of starting at Eastport, Me., and eating their way through to the Pacific coast.

Selecting Great Women

New York Times

If one feels impelled to publish a list of the best or the greatest of anything in the world, probably there is nothing to be done about it except to go ahead, giving reasons, conventional or absurd, for one's choice. Emil Ludwig has once more been unable to resist the impulse. This time he gives us, in the November American Magazine, a list of the ten greatest women of all times.

He has sensibly included Mme. Marie Curie, whose visit to this country now lends a flash of timeliness to his article. She is described as "saving the lives of thousands and the health of still more thousands."

Others are included among the greatest chiefly because of their effect on history. That seems to be the guiding light. The one American, Harriet Beecher Stowe, comes in under this head. Her book threw light forward, backward and "even on old Europe."

Asphasia is chosen for her influence on Pericles. But she gets and extra point, too. "The importance of such a woman is that she existed—nothing more." In conclusion Mr. Ludwig tells us that "when the woman of genius meets with a man, she verges on the tragic-comic, for he is inferior to her in everything and yet he is her master. But when a woman of genius also bears and rears children, then she has exceeded masculine genius."

You Said a Mouthful!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

AT THE WINDOW

Suppose it is a rainy day
Suppose it pours and pours!
Suppose the skies are dull and gray
And over all outdoors!
Rain may be bad for butterflies
And wash the paint off toys
But why can't parents realize
It's good for little boys?

The nicest little rivers run
Through all the streets in town,
And it would be no end of fun
To wade them, up and down.
The birds are flying all about,
They're not afraid, I'll bet,
But mother says: "You can't go out;
You'll get your feet all wet."

I'd like to take a lot of chips
And launch them here and there,
And make believe that they were ships
All bound for everywhere,
And hope that on some other day
When there was no more rain
But only summer sunshine, they Would all sail home again.

I'd wear my rubber boots and coat
If I could only go
Outside a while and say my boat
But mother just says, "No!"
She says there will be days enough
For children to enjoy;
I tell you it is pretty tough
To be a little boy!

You Make What You Buy

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

What you buy today, and the prices you pay, are orders for future production. Leave 'em alone and they'll come home, bringing the goods behind them.

The consumer is the boss. The producer has little choice. He has to make what people decide to buy, or go out of business.

One of the book publishers proudly announces that he is in business, not to make money, but to spread the habit of reading good books. In other words, his mission in life is to decide what is good for people.

If that is what he really means, he is not in business at all. He is in philanthropy.

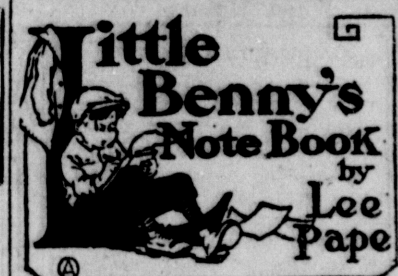

But he can keep on indulging himself in that pleasant pursuit only as long as his money lasts. His enterprise is sterile. It has no powers of reproduction.

The output of our printing presses and factories is decided, not by philanthropists, but by the wishes of people who spend money.

They express their wishes—cast their dollar-votes in the markets, so to speak—by the very act of spending their money. Do they really want to put an end to the production of stupid motion pictures?

Or headache powders?
Or high-heeled shoes?
Or sensational newspapers?
Well, they know exactly how to do it!
These things will not be produced tomorrow unless they are bought today.

Consumers MAKE what they BUY.

After supper ma sed to pop, Willum, P. Willis Hinkle had the best article in the paper today.
Well I dont agree with it, pop sed.

Why you dont even know what it was, ma sed, and pop sed, Yes I do, it was an article by P. Willis Hinkle, and I never agree with anything that herd says so I never take the trouble to read him, and in that way he saves me quite a lot of time, so I suppose after all I could say that he does me a certain amount of good.

O such a rignaroll, ma sed. You just dont like him because he's against the use of tobacco and things of that sort, and if you really must know, thats just what he was writing about today. He claims that if a man smokes 50 cents worth of cigars a day he not only fills his private sistem with nicotine where it duzzent belong and was never intended to be, but he waists the 50 cents and in a week that amounts to 3 dollars and 50 cents utterly ruined, and if he took all that money after it mounted up at the end of a year and put it in good stocks that would soon be worth many times their value, why in a few years he would practically be a rich man, ma sed.

Well by golly I bleeve I agree with him for once, too much money is spent for cigars nowadays, their not worth that much, pop sed. What are they after all but just a lot of tobacco that grows out of the ground overnite, and just to prove I mean what I say Ill tell you what Im smoking rite now. Do you see this cigar, I discovered the brand yestid-day it only costs 5 cents apiece by the box and its jest as good a smoke as the Queen Billes that have been costing me 2 for a quarter, so bleeve me Im going to continue to smoke them, he sed.

Well my goodness, thats not exactly what P. Willis Hinkle ment, but at least its something, its a drop in the bucket, ma sed. Youll at least be saving some money even if your not smoking any less, she sed, and pop sed, Better than that, without spending a cent more money Ill be able to smoke 2 more cigars a day and thus life will be sweeter and still more expensive. I bleeve Ill write P. Willis Hinkle a letter about it, he deserves credit, pop sed.

And he got behind the sporting page and blew smoke over.

Mrs. J. B. Roberts and Miss Katherine Edwards were hostesses to a large company of friends, utilizing the entire upper floor of the Padgham apartments for the occasion.

Heavy export orders from England and France caused considerable excitement in the bean market which was being watched closely by Orange county bean growers.

Knocked down and run over by a "jitney," Miss Carrie C. Miller, 401 East First street, an employee of the Rankin Dry Goods company, was taken to the Santa Ana hospital.

Thoughts On Modern Life

THE BIFOCAL MIND

We have been accustomed to dividing the world of men into two sharply divided classes:

Near-sighted men.
Far-sighted men.
And the palm has gone to the far-sighted men.

Particularly in these days of rapid change in the procedures of business and industry, we have said that the price of survival was far-sightedness.

We have painted satirical pictures of the poor fellow who never sees beyond the end of his nose, and we have exalted the business prophet who is able to think a decade ahead of his daily operations.

It is true, as I have said before in this column, that a business man must today be a good prophet in order to make good profits.

There are long range forces that must be taken into account unless a man wants to waken some morning to find his estate in process of evaporation.

But it is just as dangerous to become so interested in the far future that one becomes blind to the near future as to become so interested in the near future that one becomes blind to the future. The successful man is a combination of prophet and promoter, a man who watches both the background and the foreground of his enterprise.

He has a bifocal mind. He is acutely aware of the near-at-hand forces.

And he can see far into the distance.

In any field of large human enterprise there are long-range forces that wear the garb of fate. And there are short-range forces that dictate the fashions of the hour.

Immediate profits require mastery of the short-range forces.

Permanent profitability requires mastery of the long-range forces.

We are likely to be either prophetic dreamers or practical doers. The practical doer, lacking the capacity for prophetic dreaming, is likely to be short-lived.

The bifocal mind keeps its eyes on the future while it watches the market, reads the stars while it reads the ticker tape.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

DOING HIM GOOD

"Now Diddle dear, we are going to see some wonderful things. This is such a privilege. Yes, I'm coming with you. I'd hate so to have you miss a thing."

"O Diddle, look, dear. See the little toad. Isn't his jacket lovely? Just like the silk we saw in the mandarin's coat when we visited Chinatown. Remember?"

"Hump."

"And look. Just look at this precious little flower. Look Diddle dear, these faint lines you see running down toward the heart of the flower are to guide the bees. See. They walk right down that track and find the honey the little flower has hidden there."

"Hump. There's a bee. He ain't walking on the track."

"Say isn't, Diddle, dear. Maybe he just walks beside the track and it helps him that way."

"Hump. Maybe he's blind in one eye and can't see the lines. I'd be, if I had to walk a line like that."

"But you see, dear, his eyes and yours are very different. You know that, don't you? You learned all about that when we attended Mr. Blowit's class in nature study. Remember?"

"Hump. Mother, when do we eat? I'm starved."

"Poor little lad, he couldn't think of any way out of such persecution but through his stomach. And that didn't avail him for the lady knew he was not hungry and kept right on doing him good."

Once more one must try to keep in the middle of the road. It is well to take children out with you and inform them of what is going on but first you must make certain that there is an interest aroused, that the child has an appetite for the facts you are ready to disclose. If he asks about something answer his question. If you want him to see something point it out to him without torturing him.

You think torturing is too hard a word? It isn't. Many a child has prayed to waken with a headache on the morrow so as to escape being done good unto. Many a child has resorted to bad behavior to escape a session with some well wisher, some well intentioned teacher who saw a lesson in every stirring leaf, in every floating cloud, in every quiet stone.

Take the child along but create a mood of happiness within him that welcomes the beauty he sees about him. Once his spirit is attuned to the song of the bird he will hear it; once his eyes have been focused on beauty he will see the dainty flower and the glorious seas and skies; once his ears have been set toward sweet sounds he will hear the song in the tree tops, the sob in the pines and the laughter in the brook.

But never through your spirit can he catch the vision. It must be through his own. You can help him realize this victory but you can never force it, never impose it and it is best not to try. Free the child of obligation to see and feel and know and he will see and feel and know with a difference which is beauty.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

DANIEL WEBSTER
Today is the 77th anniversary of the death of Daniel Webster, famous American statesman, orator and constitutional lawyer, on Oct. 24, 1852, at his home at Marshfield, Mass.

Hardly in the history of the country has there been a more general expression of sorrow; the mourning can only be compared with that which followed the deaths of Washington and Lincoln.

Early in life, Webster won distinction as a lawyer. In 1812 he was first elected to congress by the party opposed to the war with England. In 1820 he delivered the oration at Plymouth on the second centennial on the landing of the Mayflower, in 1825 an oration at the laying of the cornerstone of the Bunker Hill monument, and in 1828 an eulogy on Adams and Jefferson—three addresses which established his fame as one of the greatest of orators.

Many of Webster's sound principles have been incorporated in the Federal Reserve Bank system. As secretary of state he brought to a successful conclusion the negotia-

His hopes of being nominated and elected president were never realized.
